Big Kresge Store Building Starting At Douglas Corner

Plans for New Structure Completed To-day and Contractors Will Begin Operations Saturday; Parfitt Bros. to Have Old Building Razed by February 14; Two-story Building of Fine Appearance to Be Erected; Other Realty and Building Developments Under Way To-day

Start on the new Kresge Building on the northwest corner of Fort and Douglas Streets was announced to-day with the completion of the final plans for the structure and their approval by M. J. Jacobson, divisional superintendent of the S. S. Kresge Company, who has arrived in Victoria.

Contract for immediate wrecking of the old one-story building was let to-day to Parfitt Bros., who will start on the work Saturday. They will have the site cleared for the new structure by February 14.

The new building will cover the whole area of the property purchased last fall by the Kresge Company, having a frontage of ninety feet on Douglas Street and ninety feet on Fort Street. It will be two stories with full basement and with the street level frontages finished in the latest Fifth Avenue store front styles. The building will be of reinforced concrete, with stone, brick and terra-cotta facings.

HIGH FLOOR SPACE

The whole of the ground floor, with the exception of eighteen feet on Douglas Street, adjoining Fletcher Bros., will be occupied by the Kresge Store. Kresge will also use the basement and also part of the second story for lunch-rooms and rest rooms for customers and employees. One of the features on the ground floor of the store, which is closed by the plans to-day, will be a large soda fountain, which will extend from the northwest corner of the property.

ENTRANCES ON BOTH STREETS
Besides the second story space used by Kresge, there will be nine modern offices for rent. To the second story there will be an entrance on Douglas Street, as well as the entrance on Fort Street, where the passenger elevator will be located. This Fort Street entrance will be up against the Winch Building, so as to give full sweep of the frontage of the property up Fort Street and along Douglas Street to window display space.

BROKERS IN OTTAWA ARE QUESTIONED

Investigator Says Ontario Government Will Soon Take Action

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—"Some action will certainly have to be taken against Ottawa brokers," W. W. Denison said to-day on his return to Ottawa to continue his inquiry into the operations of non-member brokerage firms in the city.

He declined to be more specific in regard to his findings during earlier investigation. Colonel Denison intimated, however, that he, with A. W. Rogers, solicitor in the office of the Attorney-General of Ontario, and W. B. Cottingham, Manitoba registrar of brokers, would come to Ottawa during the session of Parliament and press for legislation considered necessary to supplement existing provincial blue sky laws.

LIBERAL MAJORITY SOON IN SENATE OF CANADA

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—The party standing in the Senate presents an interesting situation as the date of the opening of the 1930 session of Parliament approaches. For the first time since Mr. King became Premier following the 1927 general election, the whole question whether or not the Liberals will have a majority in the red chamber is dependent on the Prime Minister and his Cabinet.

At the moment the party standing is: Conservatives 46, Liberals 44, Progressives 1. This computation of Liberal senators includes Speaker Bostock. But, there are five vacancies, two in Ontario and three in Quebec. All were caused by deaths, with the passing of Senator J. D. Reid and Sir Edward Kemp, both Conservatives from Ontario, and Senator Lafamme, Cloran and Boyer, Liberals from Quebec. With Senator Bostock occupying the Speaker's chair, the Government could have a majority on any party division by making appointments to the five vacancies.

QUINTUPLES MONEY HERE IN HALF YEAR

Northeast corner of Wharf and Courtney Streets, facing the entrance to the new Canadian National inner harbor docks, was bought to-day by a representative of undisclosed interests. The property is to be developed in connection with the Canadian National docks, it was intimated. Harry Leach, California realtor, who has been active in Victoria during the last few years, was today's vendor. He bought the property last summer. To-day he received for his five times as much as what he had paid as his first payments on the purchase, and more than twice as much as the total purchase price he had contracted to pay for it.

Mr. Leach is now in California, but his interests here are being looked after by C. E. Yearwood, head of the business realty department of Pemberton and Son.

The property has a frontage of 120 feet on Wharf and ninety on Courtney Street.

FULL SESSION TO-MORROW OF NAVAL PARLEY

Tonnage Problem Brought Nearer Final Agreement at London Meeting

By Byron Price, Associated Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. 29.—With a continued round of private conferences and consultations, the national delegations to the Five-Power Naval Limitation Conference to-day made extensive preparations for to-morrow's important open-plenary session at St. James's Palace. Out of all these scattered meetings there came continuing assurances of progress although all the delegations were extremely cautious about disclosing details.

TONNAGE QUESTION
A consensus of statements from the five delegation headquarters indicated that in the week since the conference convened the following seemed to-day to have been or to be about to be accomplished:

First, and of primary importance, the British and French have approached a compromise combining the global and categorical methods of measuring tonnage so each nation will be allotted a total tonnage which it may distribute more or less as it sees fit among the various classes of ships. This will be discussed at to-morrow's plenary session with prospects of general acceptance.

FRANCE AND ITALY

Second, France and Italy temporarily have suspended their disagreement over the Italian claim to a navy as large as the French, but with the understanding the Italian delegation will have an opportunity to-morrow to expand further its thesis of parity.

Third, the United States delegates have made substantial progress with their efforts to have cruisers considered.

$1,000 Reward Offered For Man's Arrest

Montreal, Jan. 29.—The theory that Russell W. Dickinson, missing accountant of the Bank of Montreal here, fled in a plane is advanced by the police. Dickinson has been missing since Tuesday and is believed to have absconded with some $100,000. According to the bank officials, the man obtained $1,000 in United States money a few days before he left, exchanging Canadian bills for a customer, he told his fellow clerks.

Circulars describing the missing man and offering a reward of $1,000 have been issued by the local police.

With her sister-ship, the Princess Joan, also building, the Princess Elizabeth will maintain the night service between Victoria and Vancouver, being specially constructed for this route. She will be able to sleep more than 400 night travelers and will have accommodation for 1,300 passengers in the daytime. The vessel is expected to enter the service in June.

WOMAN RESCUES LITTLE BOY BEING MAULED BY DOG

Moose Jaw, Sask., Jan. 29.—As he was being mauled by a ferocious German police dog, which tore every scrap of clothing from his body and inflicted severe injuries, little Dennis Webb, aged four, was rescued by a woman here yesterday. Noticing the plight of the child, which was pinned down in the snow by the animal, Mrs. G. H. Wilkins rushed to his assistance, dragged him from the dog and took him to safety.

MERCURY SOARS BACK TO NORMAL

Temperature Up to 45 Degrees at Noon To-day; Rain Aids Thaw

Possibility of Another Cold Snap Within Short Time Mentioned By Mr. Denison

Victoria's weather was back to its normal state for this time of the year to-day. The minimum temperature overnight was 36 degrees and at noon the mercury had risen to 45 degrees.

Conditions along the coast are moderating at the present time, according to F. Meier Denison, superintendent of the Dominion Meteorological Service at Gonzales Observatory. The northwest is being favored with milder conditions although the thermometer is still below freezing at Portland.

In the interior of the Province, some relief from the cold has been felt, while on the prairies the temperatures are higher. The cold has, however, concentrated to the south and in many areas south of Chicago unusually low temperatures were recorded to-day.

The total precipitation of rain here last night was .10 inches, which considerably helped the thaw.

The forecast was for generally fair and mild weather, but Mr. Denison suggested the possibility of another cold snap within a short time.

The barometer remains high to the north and the temperature is falling in the Yukon so there is a chance that more cold weather is to follow, Mr. Denison explained.

Government Speaker and Director of B.C.-owned Railroad Makes Important Announcement on Future of Line to Legislature; Col. Nelson Spencer Opened Speech Debate This Afternoon

Government ambitions regarding the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, accompanied by the announcement that it hopes to sell it to the Canadian Pacific or the Canadian National Railways when reports on the survey are completed, featured the speech of Colonel Nelson Spencer, Conservative, Vancouver, who set rolling the ball of oratory at the Parliament Buildings to-day when he opened the debate on the Speech from the Throne.

Seconding the Address in Reply to the Speech, Dr. L. E. Borden, Conservative, Nelson, spoke of substantial progress throughout the Province as indicated by the reduction in business failures and predicted continued prosperity. He advocated a larger patrol, placed in the field earlier to cut down forest fire losses, and complimented the Minister of Mines on his efforts to resuscitate the coal industry of the Province.

B.C. CANNERY IS BURNED

Many Boats and Nets Are Destroyed at Bella Coola

Canadian Press

Bella Coola, B.C., Jan. 29.—Fire of unknown origin, which broke out at 1.35 a.m. to-day, completely razed the B.C. Fishing and Packing Company's cannery here.

With a strong wind blowing, the whole structure was soon a mass of flames. Edward Wick, the watchman, and his wife narrowly escaped death when they were forced to flee from their home, leaving everything behind. Mrs. Wick received burns which necessitated her being taken to the hospital.

The amount of the damage is not known, as there were many private gasoline boats and nets stored in the building as well as seventy cannery boats and a great number of nets.

The government wharf was damaged, about half of the approach being burnt. The cannery was first built in 1900 by John Clayton, formerly Hudson's Bay Company factor at Bella Coola.

BERRY MEN APPROVE OF MARKET PLAN

Province-wide Control For 1930 Voted at B.C. Convention in Vancouver

Animated Discussion at the Opening Session; Delegates Support Chairman

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 29.—Culminating a two-hour discussion during which there were numerous sharp passages between delegates representing various factions and districts, the berry growers' section of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association at the opening session of the organization's fortieth annual convention in the Hotel Vancouver this forenoon passed a resolution favoring a system of market control for 1930 under the British Columbia Produce Marketing Act.

Bitter opposition to the resolution was in evidence throughout the discussion, many delegates favoring a "berry pool" and other methods of marketing their produce. Tom Abriel of Nakusp, B.C., president of the association, was forced to appeal to the gathering at one stage to uphold the chair, a vote of forty-one to sixteen favoring the presiding officer.

NO DELAY
The resolution favors "a province-wide system of market control of berry-growing districts for 1930 under the Produce Marketing Act, and that the proper steps be taken to put this into action forthwith."

It was moved by H. C. Oldfield and seconded by S. Twining, both of Victoria, and was carried by a vote of forty-three to ten.

VANCOUVER MOB TO-DAY ROUNDED UP

Police Make Twenty-nine Arrests in Dispersing Men Working in Stanley Park

Extremists Defeated When They Attack Men Working in Stanley Park

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 29.—Vancouver city police to-day surrounded and dispersed a body of unemployed men who tried to intimidate city relief workers at Stanley Park. A large number were taken to the police station and twenty-nine were kept there on charges of vagrancy.

Police had been sent to the park when it was reported sections of the unemployed intended to attack workers who have accepted the city relief wages of $2 a day for married men and $1 for single men. The alleged communists visited the park about noon and started to intimidate the field workers. Sergeant D. Cameron, seeing the group, ordered a shot fired in the air as a signal to other police. The constables then proceeded to surround the intruders. One city relief worker had been struck in the meantime.

PURSUED ON TRAILS

The crowd surrendered to the police and was marched away. When some of the men escaped into the park, mounted officers were sent to patrol the park trail and search for them. Difficultly was experienced in getting the men to the police station when the patrol car broke down. Prowler and detective cars were pressed into service, while others were taken to the jail by motorcycle men.

COURT TO RULE ON THE TAX ON STOCK SALES

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 29.—Validity of the Federal enactment which imposes a tax on the transfer of shares of stock is being argued in the B.C. Supreme Court here before Chief Justice Morrison.

On behalf of Miller, Court and Company, which was convicted in police court by Magistrate Shaw for not affixing stamps on a share transfer, and fined $100, J. W. DeB. Farris, K.C., contended the enactment was ultra vires. His first point was that the legislation, contained in an amendment to the Special War Revenue Act, encroaches on the provincial jurisdiction over property and civil rights.

Mr. Farris explained the matter had come before the court as a test case.

MAJOR MONK TO COMMAND ARTILLERY

Militia Department Announces Promotion to Succeed Lt.-Col. J. C. Harris

Exactly Twenty Years Since Major Monk Joined Fifth Regiment

Promotion of Major Theodore B. Monk, V.D., to the rank of Lieutenant-colonel, with command of the Fifth British Columbia Coast Brigade, Canadian Artillery, was announced this morning from Ottawa. Instructions have been given by the Militia Department that Major Monk is to assume command of the Fifth Brigade as from January 31, when the five-year term of Lieut.-Colonel J. C. Harris will terminate.

Major Monk has been commanding officer of the Fifty-eighth Battery of eighteen-pounder field guns since 1922, taking over that unit when Major Wendell B. Shaw resigned. This battery annually goes to Sarcee Camp for training. Prior to the exchange, he had commanded the Fifty-eighth Battery of garrison artillery from 1920, when this old Fifth Regiment was reorganized on the basis now effective.

Major Monk joined the Fifth Regiment exactly twenty years ago as a lieutenant and was attached to No. 3 Company, which manned the field guns. He came to Victoria in 1908 from Winnipeg, where he had been a gunner in the volunteer field artillery. He saw service in France from 1916 to the Armistice.

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Jan. 29.—Delegates from all parts of the west convened in Winnipeg to-day with the avowed intention of erasing the problem of unemployment from the list of Canada's worries. Every city from Lake Superior to the British Columbia Coast was represented at the opening session of the two-day meet.

Request for a Royal Commission, appointed by the Federal government, to investigate the general unemployment situation was expected to be made by the meeting. Mayor Ralph H. Webb of Winnipeg said he expected to support the suggestion for a Royal Commission if it should be approved by the west.

METHODS DISCUSSED

Following the registration of delegates the conference immediately commenced a general discussion of unemployment in each city, the manner in which it is handled and the policy of the Provincial Government.

In Vancouver unemployment was a seasonal problem, stated George Ireland, city relief officer. Cost of unemployment this season in the city he estimated would be $186,000 before the situation would right itself. The December cost was $28,500, and for two or three days of January it was $37,945.

Seventy per cent of the 3,000 unemployed registered since the middle of November were brought into Canada under some form of immigration program. (Concluded on Page 19)

Vancouver, Jan. 29.—Pilot W. L. Rutledge and Percy Payne, flying from Calgary to Vancouver, were forced to land at Merritt, about 140 miles east of here, in order to refuel.

The machine is expected to reach Vancouver this afternoon.

Calgary, Jan. 29.—Flying Officer W. L. Rutledge, accompanied by Percy Payne, both of the Rutledge Air Service, Calgary, flying a Curtiss Robin Challenger plane named "Sir Wilfrid," left Calgary at 7 a.m. to-day for Vancouver, planning to make the hop in a straight line. They were reported on Sinclair Hot Springs at 8:30, and over Nakusp at 9:05, with weather report in their favor.

The flight, particularly hazardous at this time of the year, when heavy snows clog the mountain trails, was undertaken as part of the survey of possible air mail routes between Calgary and the British Columbia coast. Rutledge carried very little food when the plane left here. Payne took a camera. They expected to land at Vancouver before noon and return to Calgary during the afternoon, weather permitting.

Victoria is interested in the mail route plane flight from Calgary to Vancouver as it is understood that some months hence this city will, as well as the prairies and eastern Canada, be connected with Vancouver by an aeroplane mail service be linked with Vancouver by means of a regular service.

BEN BRYAN NOW GIVES HIS IDEAS ON MARKET

Los Angeles, Jan. 29.—Among the "old timers" who have passed through all previous stock market depressions and lived to see stocks recover and reach still higher levels is Ben Bryan, senior partner of Logan & Bryan, one of the great United States-Canadian wire houses, with private wires, extending throughout the United States and Canada. Commenting on the present situation, Mr. Bryan, now in Los Angeles, says:

"Trade statistics provide specific indications of recovery in industries. Employment recently in some sections appeared to fall off, but I feel will again expand. Investment and speculative markets have begun already to take on a brighter aspect, and Washington and the big men of this country, who do things in a constructive way, have been broadcasting the wave of optimism which is now sweeping over the country.

"For the past two weeks I have been sending daily messages East and over our entire wire system, giving my views of the situation, as constructive and friendly to the purchases of many stocks. Throughout the Middle West and on the Pacific Coast, I do not think much damage has accrued from the recent stock market debacle. I feel good aspects and future prosperity is in evidence in most parts of the country. All the situation needs is the same

THINKS MANY STOCKS CHEAP

"I feel many stocks are very cheap, netting larger returns on the investment than has been evidenced for the past two years, and this, under circumstances which show a stronger financial position in many companies than at any time in their history.

"On the morning of November 14 I wired from New York to all our friends over our private wires over United States and Canada that now was the time to buy securities. I again repeat I still feel great possibilities are before us all for betterment."

"DON'T GET BEARISH"

In concluding, Mr. Bryan took occasion to repeat the words of the late J. P. Morgan Sr., "Don't get bearish on the United States. Don't sell the United States short." He went on to add:

"New York brokers should try to forget the recent blue atmosphere of Wall Street and be among the first to cooperate with President Hoover and the captains of industry in spreading the doctrine of cheerfulness. At present their merchandise in many cases is cheaper than it has ever been before when a proper analysis has been placed upon the different issues and their strong financial position considered, and I believe that many large corporations withdrew their funds from the street and invested in their own stocks during the recent slump. I feel money is easier now during the winter months than it will probably be later on when industrial activity is thoroughly aroused. Look at the stock prices of to-day and compare them with the fall of 1929 prior to the stock market panic.

TELLS OF "BIG STEEL"

"If for no other reason than the fact that J. P. Morgan is chairman of the board, United States Steel common naturally becomes the leader of the stock market. As an added factor, it is the largest corporation on earth to-day, its dominating position in two great basic industries, steel and cement, important industries which are contributing enormously to our evolution and progress, place the Steel Corporation in a commanding position.

"Since the incorporation of the United States Steel in 1901, many critical situations have arisen in the stock market. In them this stock has been a pivotal point. The eyes of all big market operators are focused constantly on United States Steel common, and their trading operations are conducted largely on the action of big Steel. Dividends of approximately $600,000 have been paid on Steel common since its incorporation, April, 1901. In addition a forty per cent stock dividend, June 1, 1927, amounting to $209,321,000 was paid.

$100 ADVANCE IN 1929

The stock had a $100 per share advance in 1929 during the boom and broke to $150 per share in true trend style from September 3, 1929, to November 13, 1929. At this point, when stock market protection became a matter of most vital importance, large buying orders were entered to purchase United States Steel. The break in that stock was stopped, turning the trend of United States Steel and incidentally the entire market.

"There has been only one situation paralleling this. In 1908 J. P. Morgan Sr. was the central figure in checking the panic, taking United States Steel up from 21 1/2 to 94 1/2, creating a new trend and producing the bull market of 1909.

"THE YEAR 1929 WAS A BANNER YEAR for the Steel companies. It is reported that the United States Steel Corporation will add close to $100,000,000 to its surplus account from its 1929 earnings."

COMMUNISTS IN
FUNERAL PARADE
IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 29.—Ten thousand persons marched over three miles of wet, sloppy pavements here yesterday to honor the memory of an obscure dead man.

Steve Katovis's only claim to fame was that he was shot down in a clash between police and striking market workers in the Bronx, but yesterday the body, in a red draped casket, and flanked by an escort of motorcycle police, led a procession twenty blocks long.

The people in that cortege were communists and communist sympathizers, poor people, some of them a bit ragged, who idolized Katovis as a martyr to their cause.

They were orderly enough, though some 400 policemen had been placed in readiness in the event of trouble at the funeral. Occasionally there would be a banner decrying the "murder" or condemning imperialism, and now and then the marchers would sing.

"The union makes us strong," they would shout and raise the clenched right fists triumphantly. The police who rode alongside and the throngs that watched from the sidewalks and the windows of office buildings looked on placidly. Many of the latter did not even know what it was all about; they thought it was a parade.

Ganges

The A and B teams of the West-home basketball club journeyed to Salt Spring Island last week to play the Ganges A and B teams, a number of supporters coming with them. West-home won both games, the A team scoring 38 against Ganges' 29. The B team won 24-19. After supper dancing followed to the strains of Hague's orchestra.

The Guild of Sunshine held a shower in their guild room, Ganges Harbor, last week for the benefit of Mrs. James, whose home was recently destroyed by fire. Many household articles were contributed.

The third of the series of five matches for the possession of the Hart Cup was played on Sunday between the Ganges and Pulford football teams, and resulted in favor of Ganges, 3-2. Pulford won the first two matches.

The line-ups showed several changes in the Ganges team, and were as follows: Ganges—B. Currie; Dermot Crofton and Cyril Beech; B. Roberts, L. Jenkins and L. Mout; H. Nicholls, D. Crofton; P. Dixon, A. Nicholls and D. Hilton. Pulford—V. Douglas; L. Harris and P. Morris; H. Thornett, P. Roland and P. Downie; R. Morris, B. Coopale, A. Shepherd, Gerald Hamilton and K. Tahoney.

One of the Government road trucks was destroyed by fire on Monday evening, the cause being unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes, Ganges Harbor, have returned from Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart of Beaver Point have been visiting friends in Victoria.

Clive Justice of the Divide was a visitor to Victoria this week-end.

Ross Young of Booth's Canal has returned from Vancouver.

Mrs. E. Moorhouse, Ganges, has returned from Victoria, where she attended the Diocesan Conference of the Women's Auxiliary.

Mrs. T. Shore, Rainbow Road, who has been a patient in the Lady Minto Hospital for some weeks, has returned home.

The Pulford football team won the Hart Cup series on Sunday at Pulford, when they defeated Ganges 4-0 in the fourth game of the series of five matches.

ONTARIO MAN
CONFESSES HE KILLED WOMAN

Canadian Press

Lindsay, Ont., Jan. 29.—Joseph Norman, aged about forty-three years, surrendered yesterday to provincial police at Gooderham, in the northern part of Haliburton County, Ont., and confessed he had murdered Mrs. Everette Switzer at Bear Lake, six miles from Gooderham. Word of the confession was received here last night, by Crown Attorney Anderson, who was advised Norman had committed the crime at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning.

After slaying Mrs. Switzer with an axe, Norman set fire to the dwelling, which he owned and in which he lived with the Switzers, according to the confession.

Mr. Switzer was at work a mile away, when the murder was committed and the victim's three children, ranging in age from four to seven years, left to the mercy of the flames, were rescued by neighbors who were attracted by the fire.

After murdering Mrs. Switzer, who was twenty-seven years old, Norman walked to Gooderham and gave himself up to County Constable Edgell, to whom he made his confession. Norman was placed in jail and charged with murder.

ARSON-MURDER
INVESTIGATION
AT ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 29.—With three men in custody on charges of first degree murder and arson, and a fourth held for questioning, authorities investigating the fire disaster at the Buckingham Annex Hotel here, more than two years ago, in which seven lives were lost, to-day turned their attention toward an inquiry into $295,000 in insurance held on the hotel.

Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller was seeking to determine who would have benefited from collection of the insurance, most of which still is tied up in litigation. Only about $30,000 has been actually paid by fire insurance companies.

Authorities did not announce whether any additional arrests might be expected soon.

One of the men held admitted, police said, that he dropped a lighted match into a drawer containing loose paper in a room in the hotel, thereby starting the early morning fire. Another admitted, according to the police, that he arranged the arson plot.

German Rye Market Is Swamped

Chicago, Jan. 29.—A rye exporter in New York has been advised by their German correspondent that never before within their memory have they found such a distracted state as prevails at present in their market for German rye. "Uhlmann & Co. say: 'European trade is wondering at the maintenance of prices for rye in Chicago in view of the calamity facing the export surplus in Germany and Poland, which is being offered at 71 guilders, delivered importing countries, which figures about 64 cents net in Germany.'"

The word "sandwich" is derived from the Earl of Sandwich, who was the originator of this form of food.

Pilot A. Cruickshank Tells Vancouver Board of Trade Province Has Lagged

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 29.—Three years behind the rest of the country, British Columbia has at last awakened to the fact that its mineral wealth can be tapped through the use of aeroplanes. A. D. (Andy) Cruickshank, hero of northern air trails, told the Transportation Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade at a luncheon in the Hotel Vancouver yesterday.

"This year," Mr. Cruickshank said, "a base has been established at Prince George. A mining air service has been opened here three years after its worth has been proved in other provinces."

LEADS IN MINERALS

"It is a pity, because British Columbia has had the edge on the other provinces in mineral wealth, but British Columbia people never worried about air transportation until three years after everybody else. All the people are from Missouri. It is a good trait, in a way, for when they decide on something they stick to it. On the prairie they are good gamblers."

Mr. Cruickshank deplored the fact that planes suitable for mineral exploration in this country could not be purchased in Canada.

Touching on the preliminary work being done on the trans-Canada air route, Mr. Cruickshank said the Calgary-Vancouver run would be cut down to seven hours when the service was established.

KNIGHTS SHOWN BEAUTIES OF B.C.

An illustrated talk on the beauties of British Columbia scenery was given by John Humphrey of Vancouver before the Knights of the Round Table at their weekly supper meeting yesterday evening.

Mr. Humphrey, who does his own photography, showed a number of very beautiful color slides, depicting the mountain scenery in the vicinity of Revelstoke and gave an interesting description of some of the choice areas of the Province.

THREE HELD FOR TRIAL

Detroit, Jan. 29.—Three deaths which had remained mysteries since last November are believed by Detroit police to have been solved with the arrest of three men, one in Illinois, one in Georgia and the other in Detroit. The killings, police believe, were the result of an attempted hijacking. The three men, police say, were members of a gang that shot and killed George E. Kinkor, alleged proprietor, and Louis Davis, patron of a blind pig, on the night of November 29, Joseph Yerman, one of the bandits, was mortally wounded by Kinkor and died two days later.

SIX ROBBERIES ARE REPORTED IN VANCOUVER

Woman and Meat Store Man Held Up at Points of Revolvers

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 29.—A Vancouver woman was the victim of a hold-up man last night and a butcher was held up and robbed in his store by an armed man early this morning, according to reports to police.

Miss Allie Lesell, East Pender Street, reported that at 8:45 p.m. Tuesday she was stopped by an armed man at Prince Avenue and Pender Street and at the point of a revolver was compelled to hand over her purse, containing $12.

ESCAPED WITH $35

Entering the store of K. Silverman on East Georgia Street at 6:50 a.m. yesterday on the pretence of wishing to send in an emergency telephone call, an unidentified man held up Silverman at the point of a pistol and robbed him of $35.

Breaking into the Savoy beer parlor on East Hastings Street, thieves carried off five dozen bottles of beer, three boxes of cigars and 1,600 cigarettes. Entry was gained by breaking out the glass in a rear door.

E. Fest, 45 West Pender Street, lost $4 to a room prowler.

AUTO ROBBERY

A sample case containing cigar lighters, matches and pens was stolen from the automobile of H. T. Tada, West Pender Street, in the 800 block of Beatty Street.

The premises of Leigh & Cuthbertson, chocolate manufacturers, East Pender Street, were looted of a quantity of confectionery and other goods.

Entering the plant of the Crossman Electric Company on Alexander Street, a thief ransacked the place, but apparently was frightened away before he could seize any plunder.

ACCOUNTANT OF BROKER FIRM IS BEFORE COURT

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 29.—A remand until February 4 on bail of $20,000 was granted Wilbur H. Punk, accountant of the local brokerage firm of Homer E. Gibson & Company, who was arrested yesterday on a charge of being a material witness.

The arrest was made at the request of Hon. W. H. Price, Ontario Attorney General, who last week ordered the arrest of William Smart, president of the company, on a charge of conspiracy to defraud unknown persons, including customers of the Gibson firm. Smart is out on bail of $100,000.

SUIT FILED

Another development in the brokerage situation yesterday was the issuing of a writ at Osgoode Hall against J. R. Timmins & Company, a New York firm with a local branch office. Michael Georgas is suing the Timmins Company for an accounting of all transactions between the company and himself and asks damages for the failure of the company to carry out its orders respecting sales and purchases of stock.

The local firm of Ramsay Stewart & Company also issued a writ at Osgoode Hall against W. C. Hodgins, Kingston. Hodgins, it is alleged, failed to carry out an agreement to purchase certain trust shares.

Hon. T. A. Cregar, Brandon, Liberal.
Hon. C. Bertrand, Prescott, Ont., Liberal.
Vicent Dupuis, Joliette, Que., Liberal.

WRITER URGES U.S. PEOPLE TO LEARN MORE ABOUT CANADA

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Returning from a visit to Churchill on Hudson Bay, the northern terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway, Courtney Riley Cooper, United States novelist, in an interview here to-day said he hoped for a wider knowledge of Canada in the United States.

Mr. Cooper regretted so many peculiar impressions of Canada had become prevalent. "The people of the United States are under the impression Canada is a land of barren, desolate,

McGill Professor Suggests Plan to Speed Delayed Antarctic Ships Northward

Dr. H. T. Barnes Ready to Voyage South With Men and Materials

Canadian Press
New York, Jan. 29.—Dr. Howard T. Barnes of McGill University suggests chemicals might be used to hasten the break-up of the South Polar ice pack if Rear-Admiral Byrd desires it in order that the ships of his expedition may come north and avoid the doubtful prospect of having his men spend another winter in the Antarctic.

The work could be done, Professor Barnes says, by forcing one vital break in the ice pack at a key point and the manoeuvring of an actual shifting of the ice masses.

READY TO GO SOUTH

Dr. Barnes said that if Admiral Byrd should feel "our services can be used," he would offer himself for the work and would proceed with materials and men to the scene with all possible speed.

"The chemicals we would use are not explosive and would be as safe to transport by boat or aeroplane as the most stable of chemicals. They would be to reach the edge of the Antarctic ice pack as quickly as possible and then proceed to force a devastating crack in the ice, which would cause a movement of the whole mass no matter what the weather conditions might be."

Life Underwriters Confer Honors On Outstanding Leaders

Toronto, Jan. 29.—At the annual meeting of the Life Underwriters Association of Canada, several members of the association of Dominion-wide repute who have over a period of years rendered this association services of particularly outstanding character, were honored by election as life members of the organization. Those so honored include:

W. Lytle Reid, C.L.U., of Ottawa, manager, Eastern Ontario Division, Sun Life Assurance Company. Mr. Reid has been a keen worker in the interests of the Life Underwriters Association since its inception in 1906, and is a past-president of the organization.

A. Homer Vipond, C.L.U., of Montreal, chief agent for Canada for the New York Life Insurance Company, was elected past-president of the association, who also played a part in the inauguration of the Life Underwriters Association movement at the time of its inception.

W. R. Hart, C.L.U., of Winnipeg, manager for the Ontario Equitable Life and Accident Insurance Company at Winnipeg, was another veteran of the association to be honored.

Hugh Cannell, C.L.U., of Montreal, manager at Montreal for the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, an immediate past-president, is another who has rendered the association signal services as vice-president for the Province of New Brunswick, Dominion vice-president and president of the association.

J. B. Hall, C.L.U., Sun Life Assurance Company, Toronto, is another member of many years standing, and following many years of service in various offices of this Dominion-wide organization served as president in 1928.

S. C. Vines, C.L.U., Canada Life Assurance Company, Toronto, who has rendered the association particularly valuable service in recent years in the capacity of honorary treasurer, and as a result of his work the hitherto somewhat precarious financial position of the organization has been stabilized and the finances are in better shape than ever before. Mr. Vines also rendered the organization valuable service in connection with the revised constitution adopted a year ago, for which he was to a large extent responsible.

The Life Underwriters Association of Canada is regarded as a signal honor, only nine men in Canada, including the above, holding life membership.

At the luncheon held in connection with the annual meeting, Mr. Cannell, C.L.U., the retiring president, was presented with a handsome solid silver cigarette box as a token of the esteem of his associates in the organization, and as a mark of appreciation for the service rendered during his term as president. The presentation was made by Past-President J. B. Hall, C.L.U., of Toronto.

The Life Underwriters Association of Canada is a non-profit-making organization, and its funds are used for the benefit of the members and the public. It is a body of men who are engaged in the life insurance business, and who are interested in the welfare of the community.

IN BACKGROUND

In pursuance of a plan of caution the three-cornered cruiser problem has been kept in the background by the British, United States and Japanese delegates. Great Britain and France appear to be adjusting quietly their differences over global tonnage and other subjects which a month ago seemed a serious barrier to agreement.

FOX GETS TIME TO REORGANIZE MOVIE AFFAIRS

New York Judge Gives Two Weeks For Reorganization

New York, Jan. 29.—William Fox has received a two-weeks respite in which to reorganize the tangled financial affairs of his film and theatre enterprises in an attempt to escape a threatened receivership.

Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman yesterday ordered a two-week adjournment in the consummation of a voting trust agreement between the Fox Film Corporation and its voting trustees, class "B" stockholders, and William Fox, to give a group of bankers time to complete their refinancing plan.

During these two weeks the banks involved cannot execute any judgments against Fox himself or his interests, and no alienation of any property may be undertaken. Neither are consent judgments permitted to make application for a voluntary receivership, unless Judge Coleman first is notified and all parties concerned are given an opportunity to be heard.

DEFAULT JUDGMENTS

While this move was being threshed out, two default judgments against Fox film corporation, totaling $699,340, including interest, were filed in the county clerk's office by the Corn Exchange Bank and Trust Company and the Bankers' Trust Company. Both are based on notes. The Corn Exchange Bank's judgment is for $392,000 and the Bankers' Trust Company's for $307,340.

The refinancing plan is being worked out by Lehman Brothers, Bancamerica, Blair and Company, and Dillon, Read and Company. Judge Coleman set February 11 as the date for their appearance.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mr. Fox, said all parties concerned had signed the voting trust agreement. These include the Fox Film Corporation, the Fox Theatre Corporation, Mr. Fox, other holders of the class "B" common stock, and the voting trustees, Herbert F. Powell, Edward C. DeLafayette and Bernard Baruch.

The agreement also provides that Elmer S. Higgins, vice-president of the Bank of America, shall be elected a fourth trustee.

INCREASE IN SHARES

Other provisions, as Mr. Untermyer summarized the agreement for Judge Coleman, include an increase in the class "A" common stock to 4,000,000 shares, and an increase in the board of directors from eight to twelve, with the class "A" stockholders entitled to elect five directors and class "B" stockholders seven. If the company fails to pay four successive quarterly dividends, however, the class "A" stockholders are to have the right to elect only three directors.

Reports of Rich Gold Find Not Well Founded

Fairbanks, Alaska, Jan. 29.—Despite reports from Los Angeles stating that apparently rich gold deposits had been found near Bettles in the Wild River district, no word of the reported strike has been received here.

Frank Dorbandt, Alaskan Airways pilot, who returned here last night from Bettles, said he had heard the "usual optimism" concerning the hard rock prospect in Wild River, where a few prospectors are tracing rich floats found last summer, but no word of any new or important discoveries. The prospectors hope to discover free milling gold quartz.

Dorbandt will return to Bettles later this week to bring out Captain Rowden, a mining engineer engaged in a geological survey in the district. The Los Angeles report was credited to Ernest Walker Sawyer, assistant to Secretary of the Interior, Wilbur, who said he had received telegraphic word from the north telling of the gold strike.

Vancouver, Jan. 29.—Establishment of berry growing control, with special reference to marketing on a Province wide basis, was discussed at the opening session of the fortieth annual convention of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association at the Hotel Vancouver this forenoon. Why such control has been allowed to lapse, and remedial measures, were the chief points under discussion.

The convention was opened at 9:30 o'clock, but the official gathering and formal address of welcome came at 1:30 p.m. when Mayor W. H. Malkin officiated.

Routine matters and the address of President Tom Abriet of Nakusp were features of this afternoon session. Various committees, including a report on "The Activities of the Canadian Horticultural Council for 1929."

PRAIRIE MARKETS

To-night's session, which is to continue at 7:30 o'clock, will be featured by two addresses, E. R. Buckell, entomologist of Vernon, will speak on "Woolly Aphis and Perennial Canker in B.C.," and "Organized Preparedness Necessary to Stabilize Prairie Markets" will be the subject of a paper by J. A. Grant, market commissioner of Calgary. Reports of committees and discussion of resolutions will complete the night programme.

TO-MORROW'S SESSIONS

Thursday morning's session will be featured by a paper by Mrs. V. S. MacIsachlan, superintendent of Women's Institutes, Victoria, on "Fruit Marketing and the Women's Institutes." The work of the committee of direction during 1929 will be the subject of F. M. Black, chairman of the committee of direction. That paper will be heard with keen interest in view of recent discussions in this connection in the Okanagan Valley.

Election of officers will be held, starting at 11:30 a.m., and an hour later a complimentary luncheon in honor of the directors, delegates and speakers will be tendered by the Vancouver Board of Trade.

Additional papers will be read Thursday afternoon and evening and resolutions will be further discussed.

TO VISIT ROYAL CITY

A session will be held Friday morning, and at 11 a.m. a trip to New Westminster will be made and an inspection of the Pacific Coast Terminal Limited will be included. A complimentary dinner will be tendered to the delegates by the city of New Westminster.

Business will be continued at 1:30 p.m. at the Hotel Vancouver, and plans for the ensuing year and the selection of the city for the next annual meeting will be made. Directors' and executive meetings will conclude the convention at 4 p.m. and 6 p.m., respectively.

COLDS Burbank

How can you get rid of a cold and its ill effects if you do not take a remedy containing laxatives?

Careful attention to the voiding of body wastes is very important.

To throw off a cold and prevent the serious complications which might follow, you must keep the body resistant to a high point of efficiency. It is the tonic and laxative effect that has made Grove's Laxative BROMO QUININE Tablets so successful in the treatment of colds.

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

It was not very illuminating. As an indication of the business which will be transacted during the session, it meant little. In fact, it was much more significant for what it did not contain than for what it did. However, political observers never look for a great deal that is outstanding in these formal deliveries.

It was not surprising, therefore, that the Speech contained no intimation that the government proposes to decrease taxation. But it is almost certain that there will be an increase in the gasoline tax, while taxation proposals may be expected from the Minister of Education.

Although the Speech does not tell us what changes will be made in the administration of the Government Liquor Act, it seems fairly certain that instead of one commissioner—the policy considered most effective by the late government after trials of other systems—a commission of three will be re-established. It is inconceivable that three commissioners will be as inexpensive as one, nor is it likely that a more effective administration will be insured by a return to the old plan.

It may be assumed, incidentally, that legislation for the licensing of fish canneries which the Speech foreshadows will occasion considerable controversy, since there appears to be a definite cleavage of opinion with regard to Mr. Howe's proposals. Probably pressure will be brought to bear upon the government for their modification. In the light of what has happened in recent months on the stock exchanges, moreover, a good deal of interest will be imparted to the discussion of the promised action to regulate the operation of stockbrokers.

The measure that will be necessary to legalize the province's acceptance of the railway lands from the Dominion will require careful attention. The Legislature also will expect the administration to inform it in the matter of the survey of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, and to announce its policy as to the future of the system.

References in the Speech to the increased production in most of the basic industries of the province no doubt are of special interest to the leader of the opposition and his supporters. In no important particular, of course, has the present administration changed any policies as they affect these activities—proof in itself that they still rest upon sound economic foundations.

THE CANADIAN SPIRIT

This Dominion has advanced more in the last five years than the United States has advanced in twenty years during any period in its history. Colonel J. H. Woods, publisher of The Calgary Herald, and president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in an address before the Toronto Board of Trade last Monday night.

IT IS REFRESHING TO OBSERVE prominent Canadians talking to the country's businessmen in this tone. Some of our public men—mostly those who are actively engaged in trying to produce political arguments in support of their view that the present government at Ottawa should be replaced by one led by Mr. Bennett—seem to think they ought to speak of the Dominion's achievements, her increasing influence among the nations, her progress generally, in a minor key. As Colonel Woods very properly points out, Canadians in the past have been more inclined to admire the progress of the United States than to congratulate themselves on the great strides made by their own country.

There is no harm, of course, in admiring other nations; but some of our politicians seem to have lost all sense of proportion in their pursuit of party capital. If any inferiority complex has been created among a certain section of the Canadian people, it is they who must accept the blame for it.

At this time, incidentally, it is fitting to pay a tribute to Colonel Woods. Only a few months has elapsed since he was elected to the position of president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, yet in that time he has covered the country from coast to coast and still is doing fine work at a very considerable distance from his base at Calgary. He is making the Canadian Chamber of Commerce a very active and positive factor in Canada's progress.

COAL PRODUCTION IN CANADA

STATISTICS ON THE PRODUCTION OF coal in Canada show that prior to 1867 shipments aggregated 2,863,826 tons. Production continued gradually to increase until, in 1891, shipments totaled 3,577,749 tons. The 4,000,000-ton mark was passed in 1898, and nine years later Canadian mines shipped more than 10,000,000 tons. A record in point of output value was set up in 1920, when the total coal output was 16,946,764 tons, valued at $82,496,538, or an average of $4.86 per ton.

Canada's coal output in 1928, however, advanced to 17,564,293 tons, exceeding the 1927 mark of 17,426,861 tons by nearly one per cent. The principal increase in output was in the province of Alberta, where a six per cent. advance in production was recorded. Greater tonnages were also produced in New Brunswick, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. Gains were recorded in the tonnages of lignite and sub-bituminous coal mined in Canada during 1928, although the output of bituminous coal was slightly less than in 1927. Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, British Columbia and the Yukon produce only bituminous coal; Saskatchewan mines yield lignite only; Alberta produces bituminous, sub-bituminous and lignite, and formerly also mined some anthracite, but the only anthracite mine has been closed since 1923.

Imports of anthracite and bituminous coal from Great Britain during 1928 amounted to 670,612 tons, as against 928,544 tons imported in the previous year. While there does not appear to be anything particularly significant about the figures for bituminous coal imports from the various sources, a study of the anthracite importations reveals that the average quantity imported in each of the last five years amounts to about 4,000,000 tons; and that, further, the records for the last two years show an appreciable increase in tonnage imported from Great Britain. In 1927 imports of anthracite from the United States totaled 3,265,411 tons; from Great Britain 788,235 tons, and from other countries 9,973 tons; making a total of 4,063,619 tons. During 1928 anthracite imports included 3,203,231 tons from the United States, 526,467 tons from Great Britain, and 7,635 tons from Belgium, British South Africa, the Netherlands and Russia. Imports from the latter country amounted to 6,204 tons, shipments of anthracite being received from this country in December, 1928, for the first time.

Steady employment throughout the year 1928 was provided for 14,429 employees in the coal mines in eastern Canada; and in the western Canada mines less than the usual summer seasonal decline in employment was observed. The average number of employees in the industry was 30,256, as compared with 29,772 in the previous year. Salaries and wages increased to a total of $43,320,811, as compared with $38,955,967 in 1927. Wage earners, as distinct from salaried employees, working in the coal mines of Canada in 1928 numbered 28,754.

The amount of capital actually employed by the companies operating in the coal mining industry in Canada during the year under review was $146,835,825.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS

ONE OF THE REPORTS FILED IN THE

Legislature yesterday afternoon shows that in the last fiscal year the province paid out $719,967 for mothers' pensions, and that since the act went into operation in the fiscal year of 1920-1921, disbursements amount to $4,949,140. It also is shown that in September of last year, the latest month covered by the report, 1,370 mothers and 5,028 children were receiving benefits, the average monthly allowance amounting to $45.97.

The people of British Columbia need have no regrets over the annual amount expended upon such a worthy purpose as mothers' pensions. It is a relatively small sum compared with public funds spent in other directions; but the comfort it has taken to many homes in this province may not be measured in material terms. In numerous cases it has kept the home going when other means have failed. It has meant the difference between poverty and comfort.

Nor should the economic aspect of this important social legislation be overlooked. If this monthly allowance had not been available, the children of many widows who otherwise would have had to go out to work to earn a livelihood would have missed that maternal direction which is so essential to their welfare during their tender years.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

MIXED FARMING
Le Canada

More and more farmers of the Canadian west are taking up mixed farming. In 1929 the total value of their crop, with the exception of cereals, was $148,114,152.49, an increase of $5,900,849.83. The value of their herds has greatly appreciated since 1923. Prairie farmers are becoming more and more convinced that it is dangerous to rely only on a grain crop. If they do, and it fails, they are in the soup.

A BOOK ON CANADA
The Border Cities Star

Under the authority of the Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has just issued a volume which is probably unique among government publications. It is called "Canada 1930," and has for its object the presenting of a true and interesting picture of this Dominion to other countries, and of practical statistics on commerce and industry to the Canadian.

It is not the usual review booklet, crammed with a mass of dry statistics. Instead, it is a work which makes interesting and attractive reading, showing painstaking preparation and an eye to public appeal. It is profusely illustrated, and durably bound, and provides what might well be called a complete handbook on the Dominion.

A BOOK NOT FOR LIBRARIES
The New York Sun

Not every author strives to gain for his work the eyes of the whole world. Peter Freuchen, polar explorer, inserted in his book "Nordkaper" a prohibition against its circulation by public libraries. A leading book dealer in Copenhagen who operates a library as a department of his store defied this order, lent the book and was promptly brought to court. The author has won his case in the Copenhagen High Court and the bookseller has been fined.

The question of an author's right to restrict the circulation of his book after it has been published is one too controversial, however, to be answered for all time from a magistrate's bench. In the case of M. Freuchen's book the Authors' League of Denmark will appoint a special committee to study the issue.

That many authors will act to keep their works from library shelves is not likely. A wide, free public distribution is nearly always desirable; in time it raises the royalties by increasing the popularity of the work. To every person who is successful in obtaining the library's copy there may be four or five who must buy it, either for a gift or for more leisurely reading than library regulations permit. If every author insisted upon upholding the right to forbid circulation of his works libraries would contain no works by living writers.

Across the Bay

We open the second session of the Seventeenth Parliament—we gaze on the glory of uniform and sword—we listen to the speech from the Throne—we resolve to stamp out corruption—and we watch the little boy climbing on the Bar of the House.

By H. B. W.

WE OPENED the second session of the Seventeenth Legislative Assembly of British Columbia here yesterday. We opened it as we have never opened it within the memory of its present members. We opened it with the blare of martial music, with the flash of scarlet tunic, the glitter of gold braid, the clank of sword, the tinkle of spur, the ripple of kilt, the commotion of black feather bonnet. We opened it with pious hopes and stern resolution to crush out corruption. We opened it with the government and the opposition striving to outdo one another in expressions of profound mutual esteem. And, most of all, we opened it with a fair-haired boy trying to do acrobatics on the sacred brass Bar of the House.

IF YOU have not been with us when we open a session, know, then, that we do it, or at least did it yesterday, in this wise:

BY 230 o'clock the marble-walled, rather depressing Legislative Chamber is already crammed by those who have been invited, and those who have not, and there are so many of both that the mere members are huddled one on top of the other in a little space about the Speaker's dais. Still more come—gentlemen in tall coats, ladies in expensive furs. The nine page boys, who have been selected according to their size to fit the government's nine blue uniforms and wear pill-box hats this session which, on the contrary, have been selected to fit them, are kept busy ushering in the specially-invited guests. The doormen, veterans of many wars and wearing the medals of many campaigns, are almost tottering with excitement. The time is growing short.

NOW FROM the door to the left of the dais issues the opposition, led by Mr. Pattullo and looking very solemn, as who should say that they could ruin the whole ceremony and send the guests, invited and uninvited, staggering home in tears, if they were to reveal all they knew of the government. That will come later when there are no guests to hear.

AH! THE opposition has scored the first strategic victory of the session. In the buttonhole of every member of the opposition gleams a red carnation, and in the buttonhole of its leader a crimson rosebud, an emblem which distinguishes them, each and every one from the supporters of the government, who last year wore yellow primroses, but this year nothing, because Mr. Pooley's primrose beds in Esquimalt froze up in the cold snap.

Last year the government with its primroses was distinguished. This year the opposition only has achieved distinction, and the double row of red carnations seem to throw a challenge across the House to the double row of black tail coats and grey cravats.

AND SO we wait for the arrival of the Lieutenant-Governor. As we wait Mr. Pattullo leans forward at Mr. Pooley and Mr. Pooley leans back at Mr. Pattullo. The back-benchers look alarmed. The honorable Senators from Ottawa and the members of the House of Commons, having seen the glory of the Canadian Parliament, look tolerant, rather bored. Mr. Shelly looks very solemn, having on his desk figures to show the final deficit of the former government, and having in his head things which may prove to be still worse. Mr. Ian Mackenzie looks very sceptical and especially well groomed. Mr. Walkem looks as if he had a cold in his head, for he alone in this vast assembly wears a hat, a grey fedora with wide brim, turned down, as usual, in front.

AND NOW, from a distance comes the sound of music and the boom of guns. The doormen with the war medals stand to rigid attention and look as if they expected to be shot. They are coming, and presently they come. At their head is a very tall Highland officer in scarlet tunic, green kilt, gleaming sword, and a very short naval officer in blue with much gold braid. Then comes the Lieutenant-Governor in Windsor uniform and cocked hat, the only hat worn during his presence, and after him Mr. Speaker Jones in flowing black robes, the Prime Minister, perfectly attired, looking very large and very happy, and at their heels a double file of naval and army officers in uniforms varied, flashing, gorgeous, who stand one row before the Conservatives, one row before the Liberals as if to prevent them from flying at one another's throats. They stand there and they look on grimly, but they do not seem to be impressed.

THE SPEECH from the Throne is read by His Honor the dais. Mr. Pattullo, not knowing what the speech contains and hoping against hope that it will contain something, listens intently, but is disappointed. The government also listens intently and hangs on every sentence as if it had not debated every word in the speech for the last fortnight and many others which were cut out of it. Mr. William Dick, arms akimbo, listens as to a death sentence and seems staggered by what is in the speech or what is not in it. A little boy on his mother's knee, among the specially-invited guests, a little fair-haired boy with chubby cheeks, bright eyes and sturdy body, says in a cheery voice, quite audible in the furthest gallery, that he wants some milk, and this is the only human and the most delightful feature of the ceremonies.

NOW MR. PATTULLO sits back and smiles, as if he thought that the Tolmie Government had put less into its Speech from the Throne than ever. The Premier peruses and tries to master the various resolutions which he must move as if they had just occurred to him on the spur of the moment. Mr. Hinchliffe sits with head bowed in deep meditation or peaceful slumber. Mr. Atkinson, on the edge of his chair, listen in wonderment and despair, as if he feared no reference would be made to the farming industry. The Guard of Honor glares fiercely straight ahead with inexorable reserve as the Speech says that the government is hoping to sell its land at Sumas. Everyone looks intrigued when it says that the government plans to amend the Liquor Act.

THE SPEECH, as usual, is such a mixture of ideas as only a Speech from the Throne can be. Its sentences are chopped off in the middle so that they won't say too much. It descends from the sublime to the ridiculous as it tells of British Columbia's greatness in one breath and declares in the next that private detectives are going to be licensed in future.

THEN THEY go out again. The Lieutenant-Governor, the Speaker, the Guard of Honor, leaving the assembly drab and colorless but glad of a breathing spell. The great doors are closed. The locks are bolted. We are alone, the people and their law givers.

SOFT, WHAT is that? Faintly, as at the end of a long corridor, comes the muffled sound of shouting. It grows nearer and we hear faintly the words, "Make way, make way for Mr. Speaker!" The cry is taken up by someone nearer at hand, by another and another, ever louder, until the doormen beside us are shouting it at the top of their army voices: "Make way, make way, for Mr. Speaker-hur! Mr. Speaker-hur!"

WELL, MR. SPEAKER comes at last, preceded by the Sergeant-at-Arms with the gold mace on his shoulder, and followed by his robes which trail behind in a black cloud. His three-cornered silk hat, three sizes too big for the biggest man, is on his head and he is in complete charge of this great assembly, the first citizen of British Columbia. To emphasize the fact, the Sergeant-at-Arms strides to the other end of the chamber and places the heavy brass Bar of the House in place. Now, indeed, it is the House of Mr. Speaker Jones.

MR. SPEAKER JONES's first utterance, now that he is in charge, is traditional and historic, but not staggering. He says he has achieved the not difficult feat of securing a copy of His Honor's speech so that there may be no mistakes.

MR. POOLEY asserts the right of the Commons—achieved at Runnymede and Whitehall—by insisting that the House consider its own business before that of the Crown. This business turns out to be an act allowing sheriffs to appoint deputy sheriffs, not exciting business like that at Runnymede and Whitehall, but sufficient for the purpose.

MR. HOWE proposes and the House agrees that no one shall print its proceedings but the King's Printer, as if anyone would do so unless he had to.

MR. POOLEY proposes that if it be found that any honorable member has secured his seat by corruption, the House will proceed against him with utmost severity; at which there is a general laugh among honorable members, and we do not know whether it is because the idea of corruption among them is preposterous, or because the idea of proceeding against it is equally so.

THE FAIR-HAIRED little boy with the chubby cheeks and sturdy body, who is quite the most attractive person present, leaves the chairs of the specially-invited guests and patters to the sacred Bar of the House, before which, in all British parliaments, offenders against the dignity of parliament are tried. There he tries to swing on the bar and over it, finds it too high, examines the marble pillars, tries the locks on the great door, points to the clock and observes in a loud voice that he would enjoy the use of an air-gun, to shoot at an unnamed target. Then he investigates the Sergeant-at-Arms' coat tails, but the Sergeant-at-Arms moves never a muscle, for he is a soldier and a colonel in his own right.

MINISTERS BOB up and file reports. The Premier-hops up and proposes the appointment of committees. Everything is going along swimmingly. What's this? Mr. Pattullo on his feet. The government looks shocked. He wants to know when the government will file the reports of its numerous (he stresses the word) royal commissions? The Premier says as soon as possible. Mr. Pattullo smiles as one who understands.

THE PREMIER pays a high tribute to the pioneer ladies who sit in the first seats as his guests. Mr. Pattullo pays a tribute as high and advances the sentiment that "women are really wonderful."

THE PREMIER moves that the House adjourn to the next day and to the Empress Hotel ballroom for tea. The House agrees. Mr. Speaker sweeps out, followed by his robes. The second session of the Seventeenth Legislature of British Columbia is well and truly opened.

PLEASANT SURPRISE

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Wilfrid Labelle, young Ottawa motorist, brought a party of skiers home from the Gatineau Hills when their car broke down on Sunday. He was surprised when members of the party asked to be dropped off at Government House. He went home and forgot about it. Yesterday he received a letter of thanks from Viscountess Wellington, accompanied by a pretty bouquet of flowers.

New American Women's Organization Reacts to Naval Limitations Conference

Washington, Jan. 29.—About 1,000 representatives of forty women's organizations frankly dedicated to a policy of peace through preparedness gathered here to-day for a meeting that will produce one of the most important group resolutions in the United States since the Naval Limitation Conference in London.

The name of the group is the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense, and its chairman is Mrs. Louis C. Hobart, president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. These sessions came virtually on the heels of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt's conference on the cause and cure of war.

It will reassert, it was indicated by the vanguard of early arrivals, its demand for protection against war through adequate preparedness.

The first meeting will take place to-night.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

"Just this little bit won't hurt," is "Just a little bit won't hurt," is one of those pleas which, like "he straw, breaks the camel's back," and the back in this case is money. The mother, who is a thoughtful person, and who has a great deal of food, any food which some insistent child wants to give to baby.

The mother has a harshal say, "No," and she refuses this statement; she doesn't know positively that baby will be made sick by the spoonful of rich pudding, or the can of condensed milk. She knows she doesn't want baby to have it. That should be enough, but seldom is.

Mrs. S. S. feels deeply on this subject, and she wishes her next baby might be brought up on a desert island with medical advice by wireless and no interfering relatives, and she can't get it out. She says: "Relative would grive sincerely were the little precious darling harmed, but this policy that 'Just this little bit won't hurt them'—" be served on his own little plate and at his own meal times. Otherwise we have the unhappy spectacle of some adult holding a cross baby whose loud screams bring him at least a taste of everything he points at, not because it is good for him, but because that way lies peace. Soon baby demands more and more of the highly-seasoned, rich, undesirable foods on the table and refuses his own simple, common sense fare.

Only that first bite will lead to the deplorable stage. Adults must stick together. If Aunt Fay says it is right to give baby candy or mince p mother's refusal to give it to baby followed by a temper tantrum. "No" must be "no" consistently, and sin large amounts of candy and mince p are definitely harmful for the child. Mother has to prevent baby's develop ing on annette for them.

Adults love the child forbidden for just one reason, which is to elevate themselves in the child's favor. The bit of cake or that spoonful of cream forge a secure bond between them. The child knows that the adults are willing to override all the mother's expressed wishes just to make baby's eyes twinkle. Any mother has a pretty tight right to deny baby's company. An adult who has no come right to deny baby's company has no right to deny baby's company. The angle for baby's favors honestly. Forbidden food is baby's weapon to use. Baby's good habits, baby's good health and baby's confidence in his mother are the most important canals he can be undermined by. Baby's mother has a right to such tactics. Baby has a right to be upset by that.

LIVE3 BALLS

One-half pound veal liver, 2 eggs, cup-dried bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon pepper, few grains lemon rind.

Parboil liver in boiling water. Put in a fine strafe of food chopper. Add bread crumbs, flour and seasonings. Mix well and add eggs well beaten. If not moist enough, add a little milk. Drop from the tip of spoon into boiling water. Cover and simmer 20 minutes. Vigorous boiling when the balls are first put in will break them. Serve in plates or soup.

The stock should be well seasoned and strained through cheese cloth. The addition of a little oil to the stock is more attractive. When wanted, it must be reheated and brought to the boiling point before the quenelles can meeting of the Cumberland General Hospital was held on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. J. Taylor, president, said the new building had proved a great asset.

Much new equipment had been purchased, including an ambulance, "terrizers," and a sterilizer for the X-ray machine. The board is installing up-to-date laundry machinery at a cost of approximately $2,500.

All financial obligations had been met without an overdraft at the bank. Operation in 1929 shows an increase of 37 cents per patient per day, being $2.76 per day, this being due to purchase of new equipment.

Thanks were tendered to the residents of Union Bay and the Ling Longer Club for donations toward the upkeep of the building furnished them and to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Royston Lumber Co. the former for their work during the year and the latter for the donation of lumber valued at $684.00. Toronto, Ont., Jan. 29.—Girls of fourteen and fifteen being forced into marriage with men whom they scarcely knew is not an uncommon occurrence among some of the groups of foreign-born people in the west, according to Miss Nellie Forman, who spent fifteen years in community work in Saskatchewan, speaking at the annual meeting of the Toronto Centre, Presbyterian Assembly of the United Church of Canada.

Among these people, Miss Forman said, women are regarded as chattel. Men send their wives out to work and then pocket their wages and the girls who work hand over their wages first to their fathers and later to the father-in-law. The reason many of them are willing to marry is that the wedding day is the one day of their lives when they are of first importance.

The effect of the mission work in the communities has been to change much of this sentiment, and many girls have been helped, she said.

MEDICAL EXAMINER FOR FAIR FLIERS

Many aviatrices are applying for pilot licenses these days that the Department of Commerce, Aeronautics Branch, has just appointed Dr. Margaret S. She recently was appointed chief of the Bellevue-Yorkville Medical Service. In private life she is married to Dr. Bernard. She is shown here examining a depth perception apparatus which all women candidates for pilots' licenses will be tested on.

McCormick Lumber Sports Five Will Oppose MIRROR Locals February 5

CARL MAY, one of the last of the old tribe of underhand pitchers, has passed from the big leagues, having signed a contract for this season with the Portland club, of the Pacific Coast League. Here is one of the most tragic and temperamental figures in baseball, the storm center of controversies that divided the American League into warring camps, and one of the chief actors in a drama of death that almost caused his banishment from the game at the peak of his career.

May is a man of ice, nerve and wit. Some of his remarks are classical, and one chance bit of gossip almost resulted in a baseball exposure that might have rivaled the Chicago White Sox scandal. The fact that a sports writer happened to hear the remark led to an investigation into the conduct of an important series. When the reporter was called to the stand and asked to reveal what he knew he refused to talk. But from time to time there were unwholesome rumors about the part May had played in certain important games.

May had one of the best years of his career in 1921, when he led the American League in pitching. Despite the fact that he was working under a three-year contract, he let it be known to his owners that he considered he was worth more money to the Yankees than he was being paid. Several years before that he had brought about a serious controversy when he refused to pitch for the Boston Red Sox any longer, declaring he wished to be traded to the New York Yankees. It was with the Yankees he finally landed, too, after suspension by President Ban Johnson failed to move him.

Then there was the unfortunate incident of the death of Ray Chapman, the Cleveland shortstop. Chapman was killed by a ball pitched by May in the heat of the pennant race of 1920. A movement was started to have the submarine hurler banned from the game. As we remember it, a great deal depended upon what this speaker said of the affair, as it had been charged May was purposely "dusting off" the Cleveland batters during the game in which Chapman was killed. Speaker, listing to the occasion, declared the sad event the result of an accident, and said it never could be construed as anything else.

May kept on pitching and fighting. Then came the world series of 1921 in which he was called upon to bear the brunt of the burden in the battles between the Yankees and Giants. May pitched the first game for the Yankees, winning 3 to 0. His next start was in the fourth game. For seven innings he held the Giants without a run, only one hit being made off that under-arm delivery. But in the eighth and ninth innings the Giants got to him, winning 4 to 2. He appeared again in the seventh game of the series. Instead of winning, 1 to 0, as he deserved, according to the kind of ball he pitched, he lost 1 to 1, in fact errors giving the Giants the needed margin.

Lou Marsh, noted Toronto sports writer, in his column "With Pick and Shovel," in The Toronto Star, has contributed a witty bit of poetry on a number of the world's flyweight contenders. The characters include: Atherton and Bradley, two Toronto fighters; Eugene Hunt, the Belgian champion; Frenchy Belanger and Steve Rocco, Canadian boxers; Willie Davis, Black Bill, Walter and Dano, four prominent U.S. contenders, and Frankie Genaro, who is recognized as the world's champion in New York State. The poetry follows:

"Nine little flyweights
Shedding all in tears:
Atherton beat Bradley,
Then there were nine.
"Nine little flyweights
At the Shamrock gate;
Hunt murdered Frenchy,
Then there were eight.
"Eight little flyweights,
Glad there weren't eleven:
Rocco bludgeoned Eugene,
Then there were seven.
"Seven little flyweights
Wanting a chance to mix:
When Bruce met Davis,
There'll only be six.
"Six little flyweights
Very much alive,
Black Bill to lose his life,
So that will leave five.
"Five little flyweights—
There used to be more.
Dano is a little late,
So that leaves just four.
"Four little flyweights
All up a tree:
Genaro's gone to Europe—
The number now is three.
"Three little flyweights
To furnish all our fun:
York meets Toronto's winner,
Then there will be one.
"One little flyweight
Left standing alone:
There are no more contenders,
So now he takes the throne.
There are 1,533 licensed boxers in New York State. You'd think they'd use their permits once in a while.

Every year they hold a terrapin derby on the 101 Ranch. We're going to see if we can't have Joe Sewell and Benny Houghen entered. Joe probably would win the event, however, as he once scored from first on a home run.
For the real stonion pure among fast guys, you can't overlook Benny Tate of the Senators. In six years Tate has not stolen a single base. One of these days some big-hearted American League catcher is going to tell him to go on down, just to see what he would look like on second base.

Independent Quintette From Castle Rock Will Play Four Games Against Island Teams; C.P.S. Will Most Likely Be Picked To Oppose Invaders in Game Here; Visitors Suffered Only One Defeat Last Season; Duncan Seniors to Meet C.P.S. in Knockout League Semi-final Here Friday.

Victoria basketball fans will get their second opportunity to watch a crack basketball team from the United States in action on February 5, when the McCormick Lumber Company five from Castle Rock, Washington, performs here during the course of a tour of Vancouver Island. The Washington club will play four games on the island, with fixtures scheduled in Victoria, Duncan, Nanaimo and Port Alberni.

The visitors will stack up against one of the local senior "A" quintettes, in all probability the C.P.S., but no definite announcement has yet been made of the selection. However, as both Pedens and the Capitals have been selected to meet other outside teams previously this season, it is expected the lumbermen will get the call.

FIDELIS OPPOSE AXIOMS

Hoop Teams Meet To-night in Opening Game For Women's City Championships

Two Other Games Scheduled; "Y" Need Win Over Bays to Remain Out in Front

Fidelis will oppose the Axioms in the first knockout game for the women's city basketball championship at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium to-night. In the other two games the Y.M.C.A. will meet James Island in a senior C fixture and the J.B.A.A. and Y.M.C.A. will meet in a senior B game.

The women's game will be played first on the card and a great battle is looked for. In the two previous meetings between these teams each has won one game, and to-night's tussle looks like a toss-up. The Fidelis have been going great lately, while the Axioms have not seen competition since before Christmas.

The senior C game will have no direct bearing on the standing of the leaders, as both teams engaged are far from the top. The James Island girls have disappointed their followers this year, as in the beginning they were considered one of the strongest teams in the league. The "Y" are inexperienced, but have put up some good games at times.

"Y" NEED WIN
The final game will find the leaders of the division opposing the tail-enders. The "Y" need a win over the Bays to keep their advantage in the standings. A win will assure the "Y" of at least a tie for first place honors.

Probable starting line-ups follow:
Fidelis—J. Crawford, C. Freeman, I. Foubister, V. Foubister, A. Taylor, B. Macmurchie, I. Philbrook and C. Yeaman.
Axioms—J. Milliken, J. Anderson, N. Anyes, B. Penner, R. Bethel, K. Freestone and G. Stipe.

James Island—Ross, Jenkinson, Thomson, Smith, Aldous and Rivers.
Y.M.C.A.—English, Shoenberger, Robins, Bradshaw, Lewis and McPherson.
J.B.A.A.—Bull, Moses, Wright, Spence, Alexander and Bala.
Y.M.C.A. B—Craig, Bagley, Acres, Lawson, Engelson, Rowlands and Rutan.

The complete card follows:
7.30, women's B first, round play-off Fidelis vs. Axioms.
8.15, men's senior C—Y.M.C.A. vs. James Island.
9.00, men's senior B—J.B.A.A. vs. Y.M.C.A.

Bucks Defeat Cubs After Overtime To Gain On Vancouver

Fast-stepping Portland Club Now Only Lone Point Behind League Leaders; Have Chance to Go Out in Front by Victory Over Seattle To-morrow Night; Louis Coupez Nets Winning Counter for Portlanders; Jack Pratt Hits Goal Umpire and Is Banished From Game and Fined $25

Seattle, Jan. 29.—By virtue of their 3-2 overtime victory over the homeless Victoria Cubs here yesterday evening, the Portland Buckaroos will have a chance to gain unmolested leadership in the Pacific Coast Hockey League to-morrow, when they meet the Seattle Eskimos in the Oregon city.

Yesterday evening's win put the Bucks within one point of the first place Vancouver Lions, and a victory over Seattle would give them two more points, to put them in the lead. Vancouver will be idle until next Monday. After scoring a two-goal lead against the Cubs, the Portland clan nearly threw the game away when they lost their giant defence ace, Jack Pratt, who slugged Net Judge Frank Vance.

LEWIS WINS AT TACOMA

Former Wrestling Champion Headlocks Way to Victory Over George McLeod

Tacoma, Jan. 29.—Ed "Stranger" Lewis, former heavyweight grappling champion of the world, headlocked his way to a two out of three fall win over George McLeod, of Nebraska, here yesterday evening, before the largest crowd ever to witness a wrestling match in Tacoma.

McLeod took the first fall of the match with a series of flying tackles which forced Lewis to default in order to regain his wind in the second round. In the third canto, Lewis downed McLeod with a headlock after the latter had injured himself by diving out of the ring. Still groggy from the effects of his fall, McLeod was easy pickings for Lewis in the fourth round.

Vancouver will be idle until next Monday. After scoring a two-goal lead against the Cubs, the Portland clan nearly threw the game away when they lost their giant defence ace, Jack Pratt, who slugged Net Judge Frank Vance.

Pratt counted the first goal of the game when he broke through the Victoria defence to beat Goalie Robertson fifty-one seconds before the end of the first period. Joe McGoldrick added another after fifty-nine seconds of the second stanza, when he sailed around three defence men for a close-in shot.

Pratt Fined Again
Victoria broke into the scoring column when Jimmy Evans took a long shot from the side which barely caught the Portland net. Pratt protested that the puck hit the outside pipe instead of the net and wound up by striking Vancouver Referee Mickey Lon sent him off the ice and fined him $25 for his conduct.

The Cubs evened the count when Paul Rungis shot a long pass to Jack Kelly, who swept the puck past Goalie Aitkenhead.

After an exciting but scoreless third period Louis Coupez, Portland forward, gave the Buckaroos a victory when he beat Robertson in the overtime fray. He caught the puck behind the Eskimos net and skated on round to flip it through the goalie's legs.

Rare Occurrence Gives N.Y. Rangers Victory

Are Awarded Goal In Overtime When Stick Is Thrown

Lester Patrick's Club Gains 4-3 Victory Over New York Americans When Joe Simpson Commits Rare Offense; Canadiens Set Back Maroons 3-2; Penalties Play Big Part in Victory of Frenchmen; Chicago Black Hawks Keep on Heels of Rangers by Win Over Ottawa

Canadian Press

New York, Jan. 29.—The fraternal hockey strife that goes on from time to time in New York and Montreal can be counted on to produce some of the best games of the National Hockey League season. Montreal's Canadiens and Maroons are about the best pair of rivals the league can boast, even better than the New York Rangers and Americans.

Both pairs of teams met last night and the resultant fireworks were all that could be expected and more. The New York contest was about the best of the year and brought a result that will provide material for arguments for the rest of this season at least.

It ended after an overtime period with a score of 4-3 in favor of the Rangers because of one of the rarest occurrences in hockey—a goal awarded because a defence player threw his stick.

Joe Simpson of the Americans was the offender, although he made a strong protest the stick had been knocked from his hands in the wild Ranger rush to score.

PENALTIES COSTLY
At Montreal things were a little quieter, but it was the penalties that turned the tide in favor of Canadiens for the first time this season. They won by a 3-2 count to keep the Maroons from clinching the city championship emblem, the George Kennedy cup, with four straight victories by a 2-1 score.

Three Canadiens went to the penalty box at once early in the third period when the teams were in a 1-1 deadlock and Howie Morenz put Canadiens ahead. Before the Maroons had regained their composure, Morenz passed to Joliat for another goal to make the game safe.

These two triumphs enabled the Rangers and Canadiens to hold their second place positions in the American and Canadian divisions of the league. The Rangers remained a point ahead of Chicago and the Canadiens broke a deadlock with Ottawa. A third round added in the advances, Chicago defeating Ottawa's Senators by a 2-1 score. The speedy Black Hawks came from behind to tie the score in the second period and to gain a well-earned victory in the third.

Boston failed to set a league scoring record in the fourth of last night's games, but the Bruins did nearly all that could be expected of them. They downed the humble Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0 for their twenty-fifth victory of the season. It was enough to bring them within two goals of the league's high scoring mark of 116.

Montreal, Jan. 29.—In a match in which penalties played a disastrous part, Montreal Canadiens grabbed their first win this season from Montreal Maroons yesterday evening by 3 to 2.

After a scoreless first period and a one-all tie at the end of the second period, Maroons received three penalties at the first of the third, one of them to Hockey Smith being a major.

When Jeffries Became La Savate Boxing Champion of France

You know of James J. Jeffries as ex-heavyweight champion of the world. I don't want to start an argument, but I wish to rise and state that he held another championship while in the ring, too. That was the la savate title for all of France.

After Jeff won the heavyweight title and was matched with Tom Sharkey, his manager, William A. Brady, now famous theatrical man, took him to Europe. While there, French promoters suggested a match with the la savate champion of France, Jeff to use fists according to Queensberry rules, the Frenchman to use feet and everything a la savate.

Jeff didn't like the idea of being kicked in the nose. However, he was being well paid, so he took the chance. The Frenchman weighed 140 pounds. The match was arranged for the Folies Marcey theatre in Paris.

It was an astounding Jeffries who saw his opponent answer the bell by leaving his corner on his toes, arms folded, and begin circling the ring like a ballet dancer.

Jeff went into his famous crouch, and warily and still puzzled, moved forward. The monster still eyed him and danced on his toes. Jeff wondered what to do, and finally, a couple of times.

Instead of hitting, the Frenchman leaped into the air, sailed over Jeff's head, and gave him a hard kick in the jaw as he passed. Jeff grew angry, and angrier still as the Frenchman's seconds claimed first blood, and the Frenchman pirouetted in a corner, arms folded, as Jeff rubbed his jaw. Then Jeff heard his brother, Jack Jeffries, and John T. Barnes, his seconds, laughing.

Jeff turned to give them a call down—and just then, the Frenchman did an acrobatic black bottom and tried to jump over Jeff again.

Mad as he was, Jeff was half expecting this jump. He ducked his head to one side as the la savate man passed over him, and then shot out a stiff right to catch the Frenchman on the base of the neck just as he was alighting prettily.

It was several minutes later before the Frenchman was revived and convinced that he'd been hit by Jeffries and not thrown out of the Eiffel Tower. Brady, ever the showman, called Jeff to take advantage of this break of luck, and make some money on it. Jeff ignored the cables.

"If I am the champion la savate boxer of France, I'm going to retire undefeated," he said. "No more of that kind of stuff for me."

to half Keeling's rush, and for this the goal was awarded.

SPEED STARS WILL CLASH AT OTTAWA

Skating Champs of Canada and United States Will Compete at Carnival

Loretta Neitzel and Leila Brooks to Meet For First Time; Big Dog Derby

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—For the first time Canada and Canadian women's speed skating champions, Lella Brooks Potter and Loretta Neitzel respectively, will meet when they take part in the Ottawa winter carnival during the first ten days of February. A special rink of eight laps to the mile has been constructed on Cartier Square for the skating races and record-holders from all parts of Canada and the United States will compete.

Prominent among the skaters who have entered are the U.S. and Canadian women champions, Elsie Miller, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N.Y., holder of many records; Lloyd Gunther of Detroit, Irving Jaffee of the U.S. Olympic team, New York; Valentine Bails of Utica, N.Y., and Faith Schoen of Chicago, indoor champion of North America. The competition will include the women's North American championships and the men's Canadian, which will be open to visitors.

Skating during the carnival, which opens February 1, will include the international jumping championships for which special slides have been constructed at Rockcliffe Park.

HOLD DOG DERBY
One of the big attractions of the carnival will be the dog derby for which the Canadian National Railway have offered a gold cup in addition to the purse of $1,000 and other prizes.

Emil St. Goddard and Earle Brydges, the two famous owners of The Fox in northern Manitoba, arrived here yesterday morning, both fit and ready for the ninety-mile grind. Their dogs, which travelled by Canadian National Express, were in splendid condition.

Leonard Seppala, the celebrated driver from Alaska, will be one of the competitors, as well as Jak Melville of Lac Traverse, Ontario. If he arrives in time, he is mauling all the way from Rochester, N.Y., 400 miles. The Governor-General will start the first race on February 3 and the champion, Laurier, the beautiful Canadian National dog, which will be the centre of most of the activities.

EXPORT LIQUOR WAREHOUSES GO

Abolition on June 11 Will Be Called For in Legislation This Session

Federal Cancellation of Customs Bonds Makes Step Possible

Following cancellation by the Federal Government of the customs bonds at June 11 of all liquor export warehouses in British Columbia, legislation for the abolition of these warehouses will be introduced shortly. Premier Tolmie announced yesterday. The abolition of the warehouses will be among important amendments to be made to the Liquor Act during the present session, and it is believed will help curtail bootlegging in this Province. In making the announcement Premier Tolmie said: "The Government has not been satisfied for a long time with the conduct of the liquor export warehouses of this Province. We believe that a very large quantity of liquor, which legally could only be exported, has been moved from these warehouses into British Columbia and bootlegged. The system, which might be termed short-circuiting of liquor, has been one of the chief obstacles to the effective enforcement of our Liquor Act. To get rid of it, however, the Province has been powerless to abolish the warehouses and could only deal with the problem created by them after liquor had been moved illegally. That is, we could not bring in liquor under bond for export. The Province has consistently advocated steps by the Federal Government to end these privileges and abolish the warehouses. The Canadian Parliament in 1925 passed legislation forbidding the importation of liquor into provinces except by the Government, but the Federal Government gave the warehouses until June 11 next to get rid of their present stocks. The Federal Government has been consistently importuned to extend this period beyond June 11, but it has refused to do so. "Under the provisions of the British Columbia Government Liquor Act the licenses of the export warehouses run from January 1 to December 31 and were renewed at the first of this year in the usual way for the year. Under the existing act they could not be cancelled until the end of this year, but we propose to amend the Liquor Act at this session of the Legislature making these licenses expire on June 11 next, when the new federal regulations come into force.

"The government is satisfied that with the export houses abolished and with the amendments to the Liquor Act which we propose to introduce into the House shortly, but which have not been announced yet, the control of liquor sale in this Province will be greatly improved in future, which, we feel, will be highly satisfactory to the people."

COAL OUTPUT OF B.C. IN DECEMBER 209,310 TONS
Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Coal production in Canada during December was two per cent lower than in November, and eleven per cent less than the average for the month of December in the five preceding years. The output for the month was 1,488,820 short tons, including 940,554 tons of bituminous coal, and 548,265 tons of lignite coal. British Columbia's output was 209,310 tons. All coal producing provinces except Nova Scotia showed increases in production as compared with the preceding month.

Body of Man Is Found in Toronto

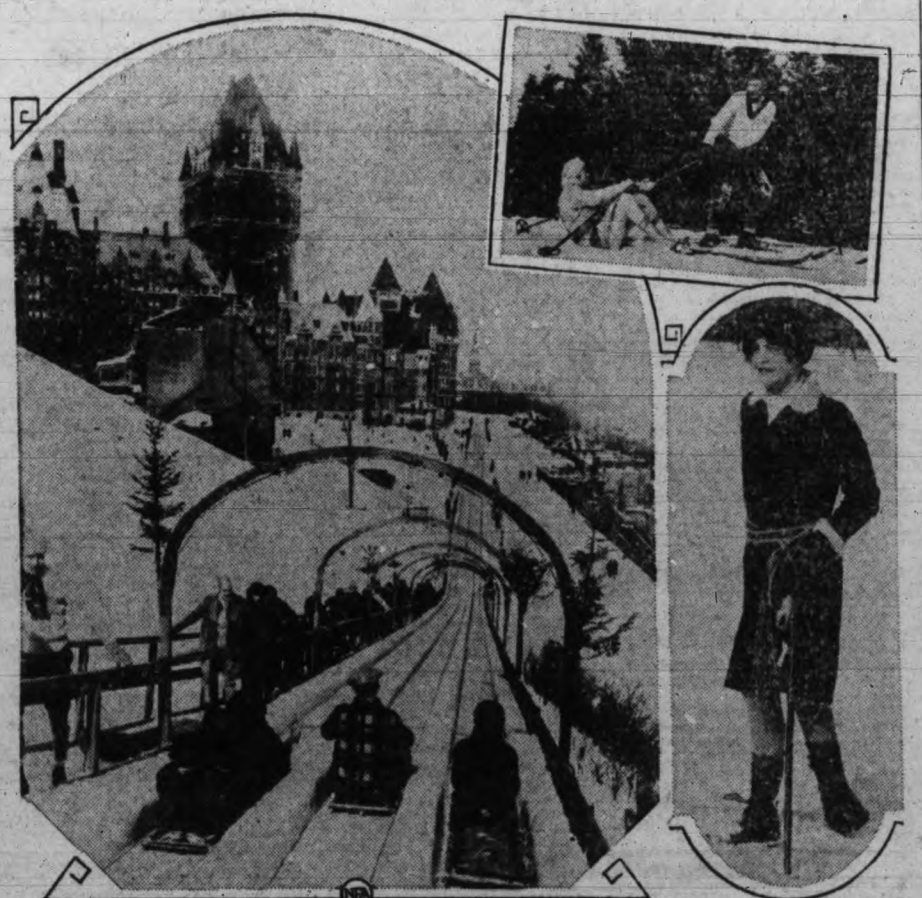

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Bursting open the door of a room in his boarding house here yesterday, Leonard Russell found the body of a man who, it is believed, has traveled under the name of Morrison. Two jets of the gas stove had been opened and a number of openings around the door and window stuffed with clothing.

A note carefully written in his notebook has led police to believe the man was traveling under an assumed name. The note said, "If I live, it should be Morrison. If I die it should be—"

but a name previously written had been crossed out with a pencil. "In any event I want the body identified," the note concluded.

From papers found on the body police believe the man may have been Thomas Edison Morrison, though the name of D. W. Bily of Ottawa was also mentioned in his belongings.

KING WINTER MAKES WHOOPEE

These scenes were photographed at Old King Winter, he of the usually stern visage and icy demeanor, threw caution to the winds and escorted in merry glee at the winter sports metropolis of Quebec. Lovers of outdoor sports—ski jumping, skating, dog team driving and snowshoeing—joined in the fun. Above is one of the novice ski fans being "rescued" when her first attempt ended disastrously. At the left is the famous toboggan slide, and at the right is a fair snowshoe devotee ready for her morning exercise. An added attraction this season is an ice-dance known as "Danse Modern," a veritable Ziegfeld production on ice.

ASTRONOMERS CONGRATULATE
DR. PLASKETT

Victoria Astronomical Society Hear Address on "Rotation of the Galaxy"

The Victoria branch of the Astronomical Society of Canada, at a meeting held yesterday evening at Victoria College, tendered heartily congratulations to Dr. J.
S. Plaskett, director of the Deminion Astrophysical Observatory, upon his being awarded the gold medal of the Royal Astronomical Society.

Dr. C. S. Beales, president, referred to the outstanding character of the discoveries made at Little Saanich Mountain under the guidance of Dr.
Plaskett, and a number of members supported the remarks of the chairman.

Dr. Plaskett, the speaker of the evening, discussed the success recently obtained by the observatory in demonstrating the rotation of the galaxy. His address was similar to one delivered recently at Des Moines, before the annual convention of the American Astronomical Association, which was the first official announcement of the remarkable calculations and conclusions worked out by the staff of the local observatory.

Boy Who Became a Page Rose to a Great Rank

Though his family was well-to-do, Jeffrey Amherst became a page in the household of a lord whose estates were in the same section of England as the Amherst home.

He was an ambitious lad, and he felt that if he could bring himself to the attention of the great lord, he might rise further in the world than he could otherwise. So Jeffrey went to live in his household. He worked hard, doing service for the lord, following him in the hunt, always willing to run errands.

The famous lord began to notice his bright, willing page. He saw that the lad was brave-spirited and quick. One day he called him to him and said:
"Would you like to be in the army?"

The boy hesitated a moment, not wishing to say that he would like to leave his employer. But the kindly man understood, and went on to say that he had arranged for his favorite page to enter the army, and to receive a position far beyond what he might expect at his age.

The page-boy finally arose to be a great military commander. In the struggle with the French over the possession of Canada, Sir Jeffrey Amherst played a leading part. He was born January 29, 1717.

AUTHORITY TELLS OF STEADY
GAINS IN ANTI-CANCER FIGHT

Canadian Press
New York, Jan. 29.—A message of hope for cancer sufferers was delivered to the Harlem Medical Society last night by Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood of Johns Hopkins University.

"Correct information universally distributed should wipe out cancer of the mouth and skin cancer," he said.
"From observations of more than thirty years on external cancer," he said, "this evidence I have found is that it does not begin as cancer, but in a local area of abnormal cells. These cells are of two kinds, first, those displaced before we are born, giving dis-to the well-known black mole, a spot like a pea beneath the skin. Second are normal cells irritated by an injury, such as a sore sport on the skin or a white patch in the mouth."

TOCACCOS AND TEETH
"In the mouth cases, of fully ninety-seven per cent of the cancers of which I have definite records, two distinct factors clearly preceded the areas of irritation in which cancer ultimately developed. They were tobacco in any form, including snuff, and ragged, dirty teeth."

Smokers who are very careful to keep their teeth clean and smooth and who stop smoking the moment they notice the white patch or experience the sensation of a sore mouth, never get cancer. I feel confident my students within fifteen or twenty years will not see cancer of the mouth."

ATTENTION TO TEETH
"I am confident," he continued "that cleanliness will protect and prevent cancer of the skin."
As men and women grow older and age thickens and wrinkles the skin, it needs more attention and in addition to soap and water there must be added some toilet water containing alcohol of at least twenty per cent and some application of an oily substance like vaseline, cold cream or cream and almond oil, because the skin loses its natural secretion. Individuals exposed to dirt, sunlight and weather must be careful of the exposed skin as they grow older.

"When women are properly informed,

Unemployed Men's

Port Arthur, Ont., Jan. 29.—Fifty unemployed men paraded from headquarters of the local labor organizations along the principal streets of the city yesterday afternoon to the council chambers in the Whalen Building, where they were met by the mayor and council, who had been hurriedly summoned by the city clerk on learning of their coming. The men carried banners inscribed: "We Want Bread" and "Poverty in the Heart of Plenty."

The men presented a schedule of requests, calling for payment of $25 a week for married men, abrogation of the laws providing arrest for vagrancy and advancement of railway fares to places of employment. The demands were presented by M. Hill and John Garcy.

During the discussion the superintending of the city employment service was called into conference, and when he stated jobs would be open to-day in the woods, they were offered specifically to those two men, both declined.

The delegates were advised genuine cases for relief would be considerably dealt with by the city relief officer.

HIGH PRICE OF LIQUOR IS AID TO BOOTLEGGING

About $1,000,000 Worth of Liquor Annually Is Sold
Illegally in B.C.

Change in Government Control Policy Is Advocated By Vancouver Newspaper

Approximately $1,000,000 worth of liquor is "bootlegged" annually in British Columbia owing to weaknesses in the Government control system, it is estimated by The Vancouver Daily Province, which is advocating a change in the provincial liquor policy.

It is pointed out that the high price of liquor sold by government stores is responsible for this situation. The business would go to the government stores if there was a greater difference between "bootleg" prices and the cost of liquor sold by the government, it is claimed.

Some interesting facts dealing with the situation are quoted in one of the newspaper's articles as follows:
"The Province of Quebec sells liquor on a basis of fourteen per cent profit.
Ontario, also under government control, adopts twenty per cent as a fair profit to cover expenses of merchandising."

"In British Columbia, liquor prices are higher than in either Ontario or Quebec."

"This fact contains the chief reason why the bootlegger flourishes in Vancouver and Victoria. In Toronto and Montreal, he scarcely makes a living."

FREIGHT CHARGES LESS
"Scotch whisky costs less to transport from Glasgow to Vancouver than from Glasgow to Montreal. The millions across the Atlantic is far less, but the fact remains that the recognized freight rate from Scotland to Eastern Canadian ports is thirty per cent higher than from Scotland via Panama to Vancouver. This is one instance where the freight rate favors Vancouver. But by the time the liquor is placed on the shelves of the government stores, Vancouver buyers pay up to twenty per cent more than some eastern buyers for exactly the same product. It is this policy that gives the bootlegger his opportunity. Fifty thousand cases of Scotch are sold annually by British Columbia government stores. Another 20,000 cases are marketed via the "export" warehouse —quite unlawfully, of course—in Vancouver and Victoria. It is the high price in the government stores that nurtures and encourages this situation; at Quebec or Ontario prices, most of the 20,000 cases now sold by bootleggers would go through government stores."

PAYS LITTLE MORE
"The facts are extremely simple. The

OFFICERS FOR CHURCH NAMED

Good Progress Shown in Reports at Centennial Annual Meeting

Confidence that 1930 would be one of the best years in the history of the congregation was expressed at the annual meeting of the centennial United Church yesterday evening.

Reports of healthy development in all lines of church activity were presented and included those of the session, stewards, the choir, W.M.S. Auxiliary, Women's Guild, Young Ladies' Service Club, Young People's Society, Centennial and Oakland Sunday schools, Tuxis and C.G.I.T. groups. The principal officers chosen were: Session, Rev. G. C. F. Pringle, Dr. B. Howard, W. Elliott, John Robinson, W. Scott, S. S. Peat, W. Howard, A. S. Todd and Dr. A. O. McRae; F. Burridge, C. A. Blinnie, A. Hibbs, J. L. Jeffrey, J. Patrick, W. S. SASKATCHEWAN SOON TO HAVE SCHOOL DEBATE

Regina, Jan. 29.—With the near approach of the opening of the Saskatchewan Legislature and the certainty that the School Act is to be amended, great interest is expressed throughout the entire country as to the precise changes to be made.

At the last session of the Legislature, Dr. Anderson, then leader of the opposition, offered an amendment which specifically asked that teachers in religious garb and religious emblems be excluded from the schools. This was voted down.

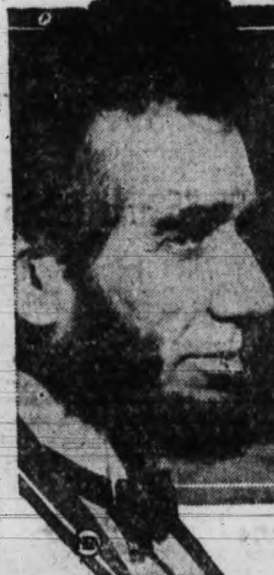

It is understood one of the first bills Premier Anderson will offer the House in his capacity as Minister of Education will be this precise bill in the same terms in which it was offered to the last Legislature.

One of the proposed amendments would enable corporations assessed for school purposes to have a representative on the school board.

Another proposed amendment would do away with the grievance which formerly existed on the part of the Orthodox Greeks and Jews.

The Government, it is understood, will offer an amendment providing that Catholics and Protestants shall be polled. Members of the Orthodox Greek and Jewish or other faiths would have the privilege of electing which school they should support after the founding of a separate school.

NOT LINCOLN

This is a new picture of Judge Charles E. Bull, famous as Lincoln's "double," who is now on a lecture tour in the east. Judge Bull was born in Texas, the son of Confederate parents, but his resemblance to Lincoln is so strong that he often takes Lincoln roles in the movies in Hollywood, Calif., where he now resides.

Miller Says Einstein Assumed Light Speed Is Constant

New York, Jan. 29.—Records challenging the two Einstein relativity ideas that have fascinated the world most were laid before the Amateur Astronomer Association by Dr. Dayton C. Miller of Case School of Applied Science, who spoke at the American Museum of Natural History.

These ideas are that time and space are not what the human mind con-

Acid Stomach And Ulcers

If you have indigestion and gas, sourness and burning feelings after eating, look out for stomach ulcers, which often result from a chronic, irritated or irritated condition of the stomach lining. To get quickest relief from this serious condition—to end indigestion—to neutralize instantly the dangerous, food-fermenting, gas-forming acid that lies in your stomach—take at once a little pure "Disurated" Maseena. It will stop the pain in the minutes and then will work to soothe, heal and protect the acid inflamed stomach lining. Protect yourself against chronic stomach trouble by using "Disurated" Maseena. All good druggists sell it both in tablet and powder form. Cost is small. Get a test package to-day and enjoy your food without fear of pain or distress to follow.

As You Houseclean Remember The Attic Ghosts

While you are establishing winter quarters, cleaning out the summer debris and getting everything shipshape for the long indoor days, as you sort the things you will need from the things you plan to store away, don't forget the power of a small Times want ad.

There's a ten-year-old here in Victoria whose dad would gladly pay several dollars for the bicycle which Junior, the young man, now scorns.

The comfortable chair which just doesn't fit into the new scheme of decoration, would simply make the living-room in some other Victoria home.

Think of these people while you are housecleaning. A small want ad listing the things you no longer need will profit both them and you.

ceives them. Instead they are relative, depending on speed. Thus an hour on earth might be a different length of time elsewhere, and if the two points marking the distance of a mile were transported unchanged to some other place in space, the distance between them might be different.

These two ideas, said Dr. Miller, according to the Associated Press, came from Einstein's conception that the velocity of light is constant. He gave some recent findings to prove that Einstein may be mistaken on this point.

He showed the audience a yellowed pamphlet printed in 1877, the famous original Michelson-Morley ether-drift experiment.

Dr. Miller then showed pictures and records based on thousands of records made since, repeating the Michelson-Morley experiments with better instruments, that the same effect is invariably inescapable. Dr. Miller himself still is making these tests.

"I am perfectly sure," he said, "that it is a real effect and not due to errors of instruments."

The effect is an overlapping of wave lengths of light that are less than one fifty-thousandth of an inch long. Dr. Miller said this persistent effect may be precisely the light measurement Einstein assumed impossible.

Over 1,300 persons attended. The previous unruly crowd numbered 4,000.

After illness BOVRIL saves you weeks of weakness

The Three Hostages

JOHN BUCHAN

I had been playing with sickness and now it looked as if I was going to be punished by getting the real thing. For all the rest of that day I felt cheap and in the evening I was positive I had a temperature. I thought I might have flu, so I went round after dinner to see a doctor whom I had known in France. He refused to admit the temperature. "What sort of life have you been leading these last weeks?" he asked; and when I told him that I had been hanging round London waiting on some tiresome business developments, he said that that was the whole trouble. "You're accustomed to an active life in fresh air and you've been stuffing in town, feeding too and getting no exercise. Go home to-morrow and you'll be as right as a trier."

"It would rather suit me to be sick for a spell—say a week."

He looked puzzled and then laughed. "Oh, if you like I'll give you a bit to see you must go back to the country to get your appetite back."

"Nothing that a game of squash and a little Enn won't cure."

"Well, when you send me that chit, say I've got to have a quiet week in bed at home—no visitors—regular rest cure."

"Right," he said. "It's a prescription that every son of Adam might follow with advantage four times a year."

When I got back to the club I found Medina waiting for me. It was the first time he had visited me there, and I pretended to be delighted to see him—almost embarrassed with delight—and took him to the back smoking-room where I had talked with Sandy. I told him that I was out of sorts and he was very sympathetic. Then, with a recollection of Sandy's last letter, I started out to blaspheme my gods. He commented on the saugeness and ecstacy of the little room, which for a moment we had to endure.

"It wasn't very peaceful when I was last in it," I said. "I had a row here with that lunatic Arbuthnot before he went abroad."

He looked up at the name. "You mean you quarrelled. I thought you were old friends."

"Once we were. Now I never want to see the fellow again." I thought I might as well do the job thoroughly, though the words stuck in my throat. He seemed pleased.

"I told you," he said, "that he didn't attract me."

"Attract?" he cried. "The man has gone entirely to the devil. He has gotten his manners, his breeding and everything he once possessed. He has lived so long among cringing Orientals that his head is swollen like a pinkie. He wanted to dictate to me and I said I would see him further—and oh well, we had the usual row. He's gone back to the East, which is the only place for him, and—no! I never want to clap eyes on him again."

There was a purr of satisfaction in his voice, for he believed, as I meant him to, that his influence over me had been strong enough to shatter an ancient friendship. "I am sure you are wise. I have lived in the East and know something of its ways. There is the road of knowledge and the road of illusion, and Arbuthnot has chosen the second. . . . We are friends, Hannay, and I have much to tell you some day—perhaps very soon. I have made a position for myself in the world, but the figure which the world sees is only a little part of me. The only power is knowledge and I have attained to it. Knowledge compared with which Arbuthnot's is the merest smattering."

I noticed that he had dropped the easy, well-bred, deprecating manner which I had first noted in him. He spoke to me now imperially, arrogantly, almost pompously.

"There has never been a true marriage of East and West," he went on. "To-day we incline to put a false interpretation on the word Power. We think of it in material terms like money, or the control of great patches of inanimate nature. But it still means, as it is always meant, the control of human souls, and to him who acquires that everything else is added. How does such control arise? Partly by that natural dominion of spirit which comes from the possession of certain human qualities in a higher degree than other men. The East has the secret knowledge, but, though it can lay down the practice, it cannot provide the practitioners. The West has the tools, but not the science of their uses. There has never, as I have said, been a true marriage of East and West, but when there is, its seed will rule the world."

I was drinking this in with both ears and murmuring my assent. Now at last I was to be given his confidence, and I prayed that he might be inspired to go on. But he seemed to hesitate, till a glance at my respectful face reassured him.

"The day after to-morrow a man will be in London, a man from the East, who is a great master of his knowledge. I shall see him and you will accompany me. You will understand little for you are only at the beginning, but you will be in the presence of wisdom."

I murmured that I should feel honored.

"You will hold yourself free for all that day. The time will probably be the evening."

After that he left with the most perfunctory good-bye. I congratulated myself on having attained to just the kind of position I wanted—that of a disciple whose subject was so much taken for granted that he was treated like a piece of furniture. From his own point of view Medina was justified; he must have thought the sub-conscious control so strong, after all the tests I had been through, that my soul was like putty in his hands.

Next day I went down to Fosse and told Mary to expect me back very soon for a day or two. She had never planned to see me, but she had been told that I was hunting a trail, for she asked me for news and looked as if she meant to have it. I admitted that I had found out something and said I would tell her everything when I next came back. That would only have been prudent, for Mary was a genius at keeping secrets, and I wanted some repository of my knowledge in case I got knocked on the head.

When I returned to town I found another note from Sandy, also from France, signed "Alan Breck"—Sandy was terribly out with his Derby winners. It was simply two lines imploring me again to make Medina believe I had broken with him and that he had gone east of Suez for good.

There was also a line from Macgillivray, saying that Dr. Newbrough had taken the passage on the Gudrun, leaving Hull at 6.30 p.m. on the twenty-first and that a passage had been booked for C. Brand, Esquire, by the same boat. That decided me, so I wrote to my own doctor asking for the chit he had promised, to be dated the nineteenth. I was busy with a plan, the nineteenth being the day when I seemed to me that it was my duty to follow up the one trail which presented itself, though it meant letting the rest of the business sleep. I longed more than ever to see a talk with Sandy, who was now playing the fool in France and sending me imbecile notes. I also rang up Archie Royance and found to my delight that he had just returned from the 'twenty-first and the Travellers', and fixed a meeting for next morning.

"Archie," I said, when we met, "I want to ask a great favor from you. Are you doing anything special in the next fortnight?"

He admitted that he had thought of getting back to Scotland to watch a pair of nesting greenhanks.

"Check the greenhanks along, like a good fellow. I've probably got to go to Norway on the 'twenty-first and I shall want to get home in the deuce of a hurry. The steamer's far too slow."

"Destroyer," he suggested.

"Hang it, this is not war." Talk general. "I want an aeroplane and I want you to fetch me."

Archie whistled long and loud. "You're a surprise! An old bird, Dick. It's no joke being a peat and a blairg. I dare say I could raise a bus alright. But you've got to chance the weather. And my recollection of Norway's that it's not very well provided with landing places. What part do you favor?"

I told him the mouth of the Merdalfjord.

"Lord! I've been there," he said. "It's all as steep as the side of a house. I dare say I could raise a bus alright. But there are some eligible little islands off the mouth, which look flattish from the contouring. I'm desperately serious about it. I've engaged on a job where failure means the loss of innocent lives. I'll tell you all about it soon, but meantime you must take my word for it."

I managed to get Archie suitably impressed and even to interest him in the adventure, for he was never the man to lag behind in anything that carried a risk and wanted doing. He promised to see Hansen, who had been in his squadron and was believed to have flown many times across the North Sea. As I left him I could see that he really enormously cheered by the prospect, for he couldn't watch his blessed birds, the next best thing was to have a chance of breaking his neck. I had expected to be bitten by Medina to meet his necromancer in some den in the East End or some Bloomsbury lodging-house. Fudge of my surprise, then, when I was summoned to Clargie's for nine-thirty that evening. When I got to the hotel it was difficult to believe that a place so bright and comfortable could hold any mystery. There was the usual dancing going on, and a squad of people who had dined well were sitting around watching. Medina was standing by a piano, talking to a man who wore a long row of miniature medals and a star and whom I recognized as Tom Machin, who had commanded a cavalry regiment in France. Medina nodded casually to me and Tom, whom I had not seen for years, made a great fuss.

"Regimental dinner," he explained. "Come out for a moment to give instructions about my car. Been telling Medina here of the dirty trick the Government have played on my old crowd. I say it's up to the few shills like him in that damned monkey-house at Westminster to make a row about it. You back me up, Hannay. What I say is . . . and so on with all the usual kind of 'absolutely' and 'I mean' of the incoherent British registration. Medina gently disengaged himself. "Sorry, Tom, but I must be off now. You're dining with Burminster on Thursday, aren't you? We'll talk about that business then. I agree it's an infernal shame."

Just then Uncle Wiggily came hopping through the forest. The rabbit gentleman heard the thumping sound, he heard what the dog boys said and Uncle Wiggily gave a jolly laugh and cried:

"That will be a fine drum for your parade! 'I'll get it for you.' Off he hopped amid the trees and soon he came back with a large, brown bird who had a ruffle of feathers around his neck.

"Here is your drum, doggie boys!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"A drum? Ho! Ho! That's a bird!" barked Jackie.

"Yes, he is a bird; the ruffed grouse," Uncle Wiggily explained. "He can drum wonderfully well. Listen!" The ruffed grouse bird perched himself firmly on a log, and then, beating the air with his strong wings he made a fine, drumming sound, as even a Boy Scout could wish for. "Thump! Thump! Rubbity-dub-dub! Whirr-r-r-r!" drummed the ruffed grouse. Uncle Wiggily had their parade in the woods, with Jackie playing the mouth organ, the blue jay tooting like a fife and the bird drumming with his wings. It was lots of fun. And if the cracker will take some of the cute, round holes from the Swiss cheese to make a necklace for the pussy cat, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's log house.

"Present Labor Conditions in Australia" will be the subject of an address to be given by Sir Mark Sheldon, C.M.G., M.P., at the Vancouver Canadian Club in the Vancouver B.C. on Friday, the 29th inst. at 7.30 p.m. Sir Mark is one of Australia's leading business men and has taken an active part in the public affairs of the Commonwealth. BEDTIME STORY Uncle Wiggily's Drum

(Copyright, 1930)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Though it was winter in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily lived in his hollow stump bungalow, still there were some days when it was not too cold for the animal children to have fun amid the bare trees and bushes. Sometimes there was snow on the ground, but again, a warm wind and sun would melt it and the ground would be bare.

It was on one of the days when the snow had melted and the weather was warm that Jackie Bow Wow, wagging his tail, barked to his puppy brother, Peetie and said:

"Let's have some fun!"

"What kind of fun?" asked Peetie.

"Oh, I think it would be fun to have a sort of parade like the Boy Scouts or soldiers," answered Jackie. "If it were summer here, as it always is down south, we could have a picnic in the woods now as there is no snow, though there may be some in a few days. But what about a parade?"

"Jolly good fun," barked Peetie. "You and I will march, and so can Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels and a lot of Uncle Wiggily's rabbit boys and girls ought to march with us. They don't mind how cold it is how much it snows. They have fur coats."

"All right," whined Jackie, "then we'll get up a parade in the woods and have a lot of fun. I've probably got to go to Norway on the 'twenty-first and I shall want to get home in the deuce of a hurry. The steamer's far too slow."

"Destroyer," he suggested.

Finds It Partly
a Matter of Luck

When an Ordinarily Attractive Woman Finds Her Society Shunned by Others It May Be That She Has Some Annoying Habits of Which She Is Unaware, or Just That She Lacks Lady Luck's Gift for Pleasing Others

WHAT is the secret of popularity? asked a woman of a group of other women the other day. "Why are some women social successes, while other women are social failures?"

"I am not speaking of the women who are unusually beautiful, or charming, or intelligent, or interesting. It is obvious why they are sought after. I am talking about just the ordinary millinn of women and am wondering why some women are invited everywhere, and asked to make up four-somes at bridge, and to belong to little clubs, while other women who are just as good looking, and well dressed, and intelligent, and live in as good style, are left high and dry socially and have to flock by themselves.

"Now there is my neighbor Mrs. A. A better and a kinder woman never lived. She is well-born, well-educated, well-dressed. She gives beautiful dinners and she would give her eye teeth to be popular. But nobody ever goes to one of her entertainments except upon compulsion, and no one ever asks her to open their doors for her, but before she can get her foot in them they slam in her face. She is just socially all wet, and I wonder why?"

"I'll tell you what is the matter with your Mrs. A.," replied another woman. "She talks too much. Wherever she is she monopolizes the conversation. She never lets anybody else get a word in edgewise. I have been at dinners at which she was present, and at which the guests of honor were brilliant men and women of world distinction, but Mrs. A. talked them down in the first round and thereafter they sat and ate in silence while she monologued about herself and her private affairs, and the hostess looked as if she could commit murder upon her.

"You can count on Mrs. A. ruining any party to which she is asked, and that is why she is left out. Nobody wants to spend three or four hours listening to even the most brilliant conversationalist discourse, for we are all vain and self-centered and love the sound of our own voices, and our idea of a pleasant evening is one in which we get to talk about ourselves, and tell our pet stories.

"It is never the endless talkers who are popular. It is the gifted listeners who make a hit with all with whom they come in contact, and if Mrs. A. had less tongue and better ear-drums she wouldn't find herself left out of everything."

"My friend Mrs. B. is very much in the position with your friend Mrs. A.," said another woman, "and she is always asking me why people only ask her to their big clearing house parties at which they pay up their social debts, and never to the little intimate affairs to which they ask those they really like, and I can't tell her that it is because she has made herself such a bore talking about her children that everybody avoids her as they would a leper.

"She just has one subject on conversation, and when you meet her she fixes you with a glittering eye and holds you a writhing victim while she discourses upon it until you faint with exhaustion, or some heroic rescue party comes to your aid. She tells you about the baby cutting a tooth, and the smart things Bobby said, and all about Johnny's sore throat, and Sally's beaux, and what her married daughter said to her husband, until you feel as if you would scream if you have to listen to another detail. And then she wonders why she isn't sought after in society.

"And there are a lot of women like Mrs. B. who never get anywhere because they have the mother complex too badly, and labor under the delusion that the world is waiting breathlessly to get the latest tidings from their nursery. Sterilized baby talk is not the pulsation that whets the appetite of this sophisticated age, and any woman who specializes on that has to talk to herself, for nobody else is going to listen."

"The white woman's burden that is on my shoulders," said a third woman, "Mrs. C. who is as good as gold, and a friendly soul who longs for the society of her fellow women, but who is the most disliked woman I know just because she is utterly lacking in tact. To ask her to a party is like turning a cow loose in a china shop. Everybody in reach has her sensibilities smashed to smithereens, and the poor dear tramples serenely over wounded feelings, and lacerated vanities, and busted pretensions, and doesn't know what she has done, nor why she isn't persona grata in society.

"She has a perfect genius for saying the wrong thing, and an unerring touch for rattling family skeletons. Let there be some heartbroken woman whose husband is known to be untrue to her, or some shamed mother whose idolized son has defaulted with his employer's money, and nothing on earth can keep Mrs. C. from discussing men who fall in love with blondes and from dwelling on what should be done to boys who steal.

"I have heard her ask a painted-up old woman who was dressed and acted like a flapper, how old she was, and tell her how good looking she used to be forty or fifty years ago, and I have heard her tell a mother whose whole soul was tied up in a frail little child that she really must be careful of Claudy because he looked tubercular, and that children with that complexion hardly ever lived.

"People shun Mrs. C. because they think she is malicious, but she isn't. She is just a blunderer and, anyway, to be hurt is just as painful whether it is done by accident or design."

"And a lot of other women are unpopular," said the fourth woman, "because they brag and tell you how much superior everything they have is to what you have, and others are unpopular because they whine and complain and you get tired of listening to hard luck stories and being woe on, and still others are unpopular because they try to boss everybody, and still others are unpopular because they never learn how to play a decent game of bridge, or do what other people want to do."

"And," put in the first woman, "kissing does go by favor, and the gift of pleasing our fellow creatures is a smack on the mouth from Lady Luck."

Sister Mary's Kitchen

(By SISTER MARY)

Perhaps one of the most exasperating problems of winter housekeeping is found in the accumulation of meat left-overs. A few slices of roast beef, one pork chop, some slices of ham and the wing of a chicken, are not an inspiring collection. However, clever manipulation will make these odds and ends into a truly delicious entree.

Croquettes offer a most attractive way of using up left-overs. Meats can be used alone or in combinations and the sauce which is served with them does much to emphasize the interest of the dish.

Whether the meat is a left-over or freshly cooked meat prepared especially for the purpose, it must be carefully looked over. Every bit of skin, fat, or gristle must be discarded. The clear, tender meat is then minced and added to well seasoned and thoroughly cooked thick white sauce. This mixture is spread on a platter to cool before shaping.

IT'S A TRUE DELICACY

The perfect croquette is soft and creamy inside with a crisp, tender, golden brown coating.

Care must be taken in crumbling and eggging or the delicate croquette mixture may break during the frying. Every particle of the surface of the croquette must be covered with crumbs, then dipped in egg and again rolled in crumbs. The most fastidious cooks use only white crumbs for crumbling since they remain a more delicate brown during cooking. The crusts of bread are not used in this case and the crumbs should be very dry. One tablespoon of water is added to each egg used in crumbling and the mixture is beaten just enough to mix the white and yolk thoroughly.

Sometimes rice or potato is used instead of the white sauce. This naturally makes a less delicate croquette but is easier for the cook to handle, since the mixture is quite firm. Egg is used for binding the whole with either the sauce or vegetable foundation.

HOW TO SHAPE CROQUETTES

The first shaping of croquettes requires the most gentle handling. To be sure the croquettes are the same size, it is well to measure them. Measure between two large spoons and roll gently between the hands until a smooth, ball is formed. If wanted cylindrical in shape, roll lightly on a molding board dusted with sifted crumbs until the desired length. Flatten ends.

Fish Croquettes
One and one-half cups flaked fish, 1 cup milk, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 egg, 1 sliced onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 lemon, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, crumbs, egg.

Sauté onion in milk. Melt butter, stir in flour and when bubbling, add milk strained to remove onion. Add salt, pepper and parsley and bring to the boiling point. Remove from fire and add fish sprinkled with lemon juice. Stir until blended, taking care not to crush fish. Turn out to a platter to cool. When cool, shape and roll in crumbs. Dip in egg slightly beaten with 1 tablespoon water, roll again in crumbs and fry in deep, hot fat.

FOR YOU AND YOURS

60 YEARS

SIXTY years ago The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada was born. With it came the birth of a new idea in Canada—a Life Insurance Company conceived and promoted on a purely Mutual basis, with no private capital, and with every single policy holder an active participant in the Company. It is a far cry to those historic days of Confederation. That small band of five hundred original policy holders has grown to become a Company, nation wide in its influence and performance.

This year The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada celebrates its Diamond Jubilee, an outstanding milestone in a truly remarkable history of continued growth and achievement. A history like this proves the soundness of the principle of mutuality.

The Mutual Life of Canada still remains as Canada's first and only Mutual Insurance Company sharing its benefits and profits with an increasing host of satisfied policy holders. Today, more than ever, it stands at the service of all, offering the most protection at the lowest cost.

Our Agent will be glad to explain, without any obligation, the numerous advantages of

AUTO CAMP IS CENTRE OF ACTION IN VARIETY PLAY

A thrilling comedy-drama in three acts with Toby Leitch in a stellar role, the Variety Theatre presentation this week, "Pat Piper's Place," is proving a tremendous success. Toby's infectious comedy in this brilliant commentary on American manners is irresistible, sweeping the audience into hilarious laughter. In addition there is exciting drama, developed in an intriguing atmosphere of mystery. Patricia Piper, young and beautiful manageress of an auto camp, is unjustly suspected of bootlegging. Then her brother incurs the wrath of prohibition agents, leaving the courageous "Pat" in a difficult situation, from which she extricates herself and her brother by the exercise of her wit and ingenuity. Jack Clayton, former London music hall artist, appears in a vaudeville specialty and Spencer's orchestra is featured in a musical presentation.

LILIAN CHRISTINE FILLS FINE ROLE IN ROYAL PLAY

The Gordon McLeod English Players present for their second week at the Royal Victoria Theatre, one of the most amusing plays ever seen here. It is entitled, "This Thing Called Love," and differs entirely from anything this talented company has played to Victoria audiences before. Miss Lilian Christine as the girl with new ideas gives a performance which will delight her many admirers and add new laurels to her fine record as an actress of charm and intellectuality.

Claude Bailey's breezy personality, experience and fine voice eminently fit him for the part of Rice Collins, the mining engineer from the wilds of Peru. Ernest Bodkin, who gave so masterly a performance in "The Ring" as Meister Herbert Leonard, who made himself so well known as the crook doctor in "The Crooked Billet," and James McGrath all play important parts. Miss Maude Blake, as a Spanish lady; Miss Margaret St. Barbe-West as a charming little lady who finds matrimony a difficult problem, and Miss Ann Parren, who gives a clever portrayal of a talkative inconsequential wife, complete the cast. Mr. McLeod has given special attention to the staging of this play.

VILMA BANKY STARRED ALONE IN "AWAKENING"

Several features of interest to music-lovers are contained in the musical accompaniment to "The Awakening," the Samuel Goldwyn United Artists picture starring Vilma Banky, now showing at the Columbia Theatre. Here are presented—the traditional marching songs of the famous German Uhlan cavalry regiments, which have been sung in the German army since the days of Frederick the Great, and the native peasant songs of Alsace, introduced in connection with the village fete scenes.

"Marie," the theme song of "The Awakening," is the first theme song for a picture written by Irving Berlin, the noted composer of popular music, and is dedicated to Miss Banky, who is starred individually in "The Awakening" for the first time in her United States moving picture career.

PLAYGROUND NEAR HOLLYWOOD SEEN IN "BACHELOR GIRL"

The concessions at Ocean Park, one of the many shore playgrounds near Hollywood, are usually deserted during the week in the winter months. Residents were therefore startled when the large company of Columbia's "The Bachelor Girl," a production synchronized with dialogue and music now playing at the Playhouse Theatre, swooped down on them during the filming of a thrilling sequence on scenic railways, carousels and chute chutes. Bystanders were shocked when a boat came from a dark tunnel behind Jacqueline Logan and William Collier Jr. locked in a tight embrace kissing each other.

BILLIE DOVE DOES RAPID WORK IN "PAINTED LADY"

Believe it or not, but in one day Billie Dove changed her name twice, made personal appearances in four cafes, in four different cities, turned down four proposals of marriage, married three chorus girls to millions, and finally found true love for herself.

She did it in one day's work at the First National Vitaphone Studios during which she was making takes for "The Painted Lady," her first singing and dancing talkie, which shows at the Capitol Theatre for the last times to-night.

The story, which shows her as a night club hostess, moves through a quartette of cities with many men involved in her daily life as entertainer and night life queen.

Principals and chorus in this pretentious "gold diggers" number in the picture comprise many more than any other separate revue in the film. A complete orchestra furnishes the music in the theatre pit.

Many original songs written especially for the picture are introduced in "Gold Diggers of Broadway."

How One Woman Lost 28 Lbs. of Fat

This headline is exactly true and means just what it says. Read her own letter: "I take a daily dose of Kruschen and I have lost two inches round the waist and hips and 28 pounds since last summer. I feel very well on it, and people tell me I look very fit. I am 5 feet 4 inches in height, 40 years old, and come of a stout family."

Miss E. L. If you are fat, first remove the cause. When your liver, kidneys and bowels can't throw off that poisonous waste material which is always accumulating in your body—before you realize it you are growing hideously fat. Take Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning. In three weeks' time, get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished. Notice also how you have gained in energy and health. Your skin is clearer, your eyes sparkle with glorious health. You feel younger in body, keener in mind. Kruschen will give many fat people a joyous surprise. (Advt.)

BUILDING PLANS NEAR MATUREITY

Site Secured For Structure For Institute of Blind

As an outcome of the campaign for fund conducted by the Canadian National Institute for the blind here last year it was announced to-day by Merrill J. Robinson, superintendent for the foreign division, that a site had been secured in Vancouver for the headquarters of the division.

The northwest corner of Broadway and Spruce Streets has been obtained for the building at a cost of $9,000. The property has a frontage of 100 feet on Broadway and 125 feet on Spruce.

Plans for the structure are now being prepared and building operations will commence as soon as they are approved by the advisory board and board of management.

It is proposed to erect a three-story structure of reinforced concrete. It will house the institute's various activities, leaving room for future development.

HINTS FOR MODEL PLANE BUILDERS

Question—How are cone wheels made?
Answer—Draw a circle one inch in diameter on some stiff paper and cut it out. Cut out of the circle, using the centre as the apex of the "V," a medium "V." Ambroid the ends together so you form a cone. Put a drop of ambroid on the end of the axle to act as a nut.

Question—What causes my ship to roll over?
Answer—The turning movement of the prop. The prop turning swiftly to the right, tends to throw the ship to the left, or even turn it on its back.

To correct this, try "washin" and "washout." Looking at the plane from the rear, bend the leading edge of the left wing up—this is "washin." Bend up the trailing edge of the right wing—this is "washout."

Question—How large a Dihedral should an R.O.G. have?
Answer—The number of degrees differ. Imagine a line drawn from wing-tip to wing-tip. Have this line about one inch away from the centre of the wing.

Question—How thick should a prop be?
Answer—A prop should be about one-sixteenth of an inch at the hub and one-thirty-second of an inch in the blade. Sandpaper it down so that when held to a window you can see the light through the blocks.

Question—How much motor is needed?
Answer—Have the rubber long enough to reach in a double strand from the front to the back with an inch slack.

Two special concerts at the Empress Hotel this season. March 28, April 17.
